THEATRICAL NEWS.

Music Hall.

John W. Isham's "Octoroons," composed of high-class comedians, clever dancers and sweet singers will present a program replete with new ideas so interesting and amusing that all who visit Music hall this and the succeeding evening will vote the evening as one of the merriest and most pleasing they have enjoyed or will enjoy this season in the amusement line.

For the first half of next week "My Uncle from New York" is the bill offered. It is said to be one of the best farcical comedies of a high and entertaining order before the public. It is clean and wholesome in action and dialogue, and presents a plot that is wholly natural and consequently rapturously funny. The many incidents growing out of the unexpected arrival of "My Uncle" are the most laughable ever seen. Harry Montague as the uncle is en rapport with the part and gives all those lights and shades which only an experienced actor can. Miss Duncan is gracious and attractive and adds that dash that is just necessary to make the comedy sparkling.

Savoy Theatre.

Never has success come quicker to a theatrical scheme than it has come to the Savoy Theatre, which in character has completely changed in every respect. From the class of patrons when the theatre was a vaudeville house the clientele now is composed of the very first people of the city. There is a reason for all this, as the company is vastly superior to any that Lowell has had in years, and no finer stage settings can be found. This management has done everything to gain the confidence of the people and surely it has succeed in doing it. The matinee last Saturday was the largest in the history of the house and 350 photographs were given away to ladies present. These matinees are very popular. Next Saturday a fine cabinet with autograph of Miss Stahl will be given to every lady sitting down stairs.

WATER BOARD

Finds Waste Water in Many Places.

The water board has placed meters in houses where it was suspected there was useless waste of water and in some cases it was found that in three months water to the value of $50 to $100 was being used, where formely a charge of only $30 a year was being made. At last night's meeting of the water board, several of those who were caught appeared and asked for rebates. The matter was taken under consideration.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

HART—The funeral of Elizabeth Hart occurred at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the ware-rooms of Undertaker J. F. O'Donnell. Interment was in the Edson cemetery.

SULLIVAN—The funeral of Ellen Sullivan occurred at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from her late home, 31 Marion street. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

DEATHS.

TUCK—Florence D. Tuck, infant daughter of Edward Tuck of North Chelmsford, died yesterday.

BALDWIN—Mrs. Rachel A. Baldwin, 76 years of age, died yesterday in Billerica. She was the wife of Francis Baldwin.

AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

A Novel Entertainment was Held Last Evening.

"Living Advertisements" was the novel entertainment given in the chapel of St. John's church last night under the auspices of the Improvement society.

The idea of the affair originated with Herbet L. Bishop and was carried out very successfully under his direction, with the assistance of Benjamin Clements, Heaton Burns, Miss Marcia C. Cogshall and Miss Harriet Green.

There was stage at one end of the chapel, and the curtain arrangement was similar to that in living pictures, even to the excellent light effects in the rear.

SEWER COMMITTEE

Heard Half a Hundred Petitioners and Remonstrants.

Several petitions were heard by the sewer committee last night and about 50 petitioners and remonstrants were permitted to present their views.

One of the principal petitions was that of the Middlesex North Agricultural society asking that the sewer assessment from the Gorham street sewer be abated. Sidney Drewett, the treasurer, appeared for the society. "The assessment is $1019," he said, "Now the society is $9600 in debt already and the laying of a sewer in the street is no benefit to us.

Alderman Dow reminded Mr. Drewett that the sewer in the street enhanced the value of the land. He thought that a society with $70,000 worth of property can afford to pay the assessment.

Col. Bennett asked for relief for the Westford street sewer. It is too small to carry off the sewerage and at times the resulting conditions are very annoying.

That sewers be laid in Campau and Corbett streets was asked and no remonstrants appeared. But the streets have not yet been accepted.

No one was present to speak for or against the 5th avenue and Avon street sewer and on the Grace and Burgess streets petition for a sewer, several spoke.

Col. Bennett and others asked for abatement on the D street sewer. The colonel said his tax was $2.50 on 20,000 feet of land and others were said to be excessive.

Better drainage in Chelmsford street and the extension of the Oakland street sewer were asked.

JOE DONOHOE

Says That a Democrat Can Win in the 27th District.

The greatest surprise offered local democrats and a few republicans, too, in Tuesday's election, was the defeat of Donohoe and Coughlin in the 27th district.

Democrats hoped for both, and confidently expected Donohoe.

Yesterday some one mentioned to "Joe" that as he was not elected, no democrat in the district can win. "Yes, they can," he replied; "that was an unusual vote; the reserve came out strong. Next year it will not be so heavy on the republican side and a good democrat will win. I am glad Coughlin ran well. I worked hard for election and feel that the democracy of the district will not blame me for defeat. I canvassed the district as close as I could, and left nothing undone to lead the party to victory. All things considered, I am gratified with my vote."

From Rochester, N. Y.

On his return from Rochester this morning Mr. O'Hearn was met by a Sun reporter and in answer to a question as to the condition of things in that city he said that politically he found the greatest satisfaction prevailing now that the election is over.

"My trip was a flying one," said Mr. O'Hearn, "and I had little opportunity to meet and speak with strangers. Some of those I came in contact with, however, were men who had been outspoken in their advocacy of Mr. Bryan, but are now satisfied to have the question settled, agreeing that the stupendous plurality of Mr. McKinley leaves little doubt in their minds as to the justice of claim of the sound money men and their right to direct the affairs of this nation during the next four years. The greatest confidence prevails in northern New York. Arriving in Rochester yesterday morning at 9.43 continued Mr. O'Hearn, I found the greatest clothing market and the best garment makers in the world settling down to four years of prosperous business—yes, I went there in response to an invitation to consider an offer on several lots of suits and overcoats that were to be closed out to wind up the season's business on winter weights. You must know that in this respect Rochester differs from the cities of New York and Boston. Not alone do they make the finest goods there, but they are the first to show samples, and the first to end the season's selling. The sweat shops of the other great clothing centres are unknown there. The army of tailors to be seen leaving the big workshops at noon yesterday was a sight to witness. They are as busy as beavers on spring goods now. The scribe was inquisitive, and in answer to his question Mr. O'Hearn said: "You may serve notice on the public through the widely read columns of your paper that we will offer the most remarkable values ever seen in fine, well trimmed and well tailored clothing next Saturday, suits as well as overcoats. We will demonstrate to the public what double shrunk cloth thoroughly made and trimmed means, as compared with cloth and lining that are merely thrown together. The cost of making and trimming a garment thoroughly, is very much more than the cost of the cloth that goes into it."

BRYAN NOT YET DEFEATED

The Doubtful States All Claimed by Republicans.

McKinley Returns Took a Big Drop Yesterday Afternoon—The Returns Will be Further Cut Down Today—What Senator Jones Said Last Evening—The Associated Press Returns Give McKinley Some Doubtful States—A Colored Councillor Elected in Boston Congressional Aspect.

Yesterday the Sun published the press despatches favoring the election of McKinley, but later returns proved them false and gave Bryan Nebraska, Texas and Kansas, having a total electoral of 33, with good chances of Kentucky, Washington, Wyoming and Indiana.

Yesterday all the doubtful states were put in the republican column. Today some of them remain there still without warrant as the returns are incomplete. It is an old republican dodge to claim everything and hold back returns where these are against them.

The claims of Senator Jones and of the democratic national committee caused wild demonstrations over the country.

FRAUD INVOLVED.

The original claims of republicans were that returns would be late and before the polls closed they claimed all the doubtful states. By that means they wanted to prepare the country for McKinley's election if the necessary votes were to be purchased. The offers of Hanna to buy Texas and the lavish use of money in Illinois and every other state where it was needed shows the tactics of the republican leaders. They were determined to buy the election at any price.

The national democratic committee will fight these corrupt influences to the bitter end.

Chairman Jones' Statement.

It was practically as follows:

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 5.—Last night Senator Jones when asked for a statement of his opinion of the result as it stands, dictated the following:

"I have counted from the beginning the states upon which we relied for Mr. Bryan's election, the southern states, with 156 votes, and the states west of the Missouri, with 61 votes, making a total of 217.

"I have hoped that we would carry Indiana, Michigan and Minnesota. I believe that we have carried all of the western states, heretofore counted on, which leaves us, not counting Deleware, which I think we have carried, and which I have not heretofore calculated on, 209 votes.

"One vote we certainly have in Delaware, and probably three. But counting only one vote, which we have beyond doubt, it leaves necessary to a choice 14 votes. Either Michigan or Indiana would give us those 14 votes.

"The reports received by us from both these states are encouraging and lead us to believe that while both states are close we have the better chance to win, and we may probably carry both. There can be scarcely a doubt of our getting Indiana.

"Under these circumstances it seems to me that we are entirely justified in claiming the election of Mr. Bryan, which I do. And I believe that the temper of the people is such that they will not allow their choice to be defeated by tricks and fraud.

"The statements made again and again that I have given up the contest and admitted that Mr. Bryan is defeated indicate deliberate purpose to lead the people to believe that McKinley's election is accomplished and acquiesced in.

"I have not for a moment acquiesced in Mr. McKinley's election, and will not until there is a material change from existing conditions, as I believe Indiana and probably Michigan have voted for Bryan, and if either has he is elected.

Total Electoral Vote, 447.

Necessary for a choice, 224.

The returns show some interesting features, and in some respects have been a surprise to the leaders of both political parties. The New England states have, as expected, given heavy pluralities for McKinley, without exception. The Republican ticket was successful in Massachusetts greatly bebond what was claimed for it by the most enthusiastic prophet of Republican success.

New York and Pennsylvania vie with each other for the largest plurality, and the figures at hand do not indicate which one of them has surpassed the other. Each state has given the Republican candidate between 275,000 and 280,000. To these states Illinois is third for its plurality for the winning candidate. If the percentage of gain over the presidential election of 1892, that has so far been shown continues to the end, it will give a plurality of not far from 175,000.

In the gubernatorial race Altgeld has been badly defeated, but is not buried so deep, and is probably about 60,000 ahead of the Democratic national ticket. There has evidently been a large vote cast throughout the state for McKinley and Altgeld.

Ohio, which has all along been claimed by Chairman Jones as a state in which Bryan would push McKinley very close, has given the Republican candidate an overwhelming plurality.

In Michigan the election has resulted in a very heavily reduced vote for the Republican ticket. The free silver papers of Detroit concede the state to McKinley by 25,000. The last previous vote in the state was in 1895, when Moore, the Republican candidate for justice of the supreme court, had a plurality of 71,487 over McGrath, his Democratic rival.

West Virginia is confidently claimed by the Republicans, and the chairman of the Democratic state central committee concedes the state to McKinley.

Tennessee presents some of the interesting features of the campaign. Patterson, the Gold Democratic candidate for congress in the city of Memphis, is running neck and neck with his opponent, and the official count will be necessary to decide between them. The state at large is claimed by both parties, and because of the length of the ticket, the returns are coming in so slow that neither side is justified in claiming the electoral vote with confidence.

North Carolina is claimed by both parties, but, as in Tennessee, the returns are slow, and no definite conclusion is possible at present.

South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi and Alabama are all for Bryan by about the normal Democratic majority. The Virginia electors will, without question, be for Bryan, but they have been elected by a heavily reduced Democratic vote.

The Republicans have abandoned all hope of Texas, and the state is conceded to Bryan. The fusion between the Populists and Republicans in this state did not prove a success.

Nebraska has gone for Bryan, notwithstanding the Republican claims, but Kansas has as yet said practically nothing. The returns show Democratic gains in some districts, and these are offset by Republican gains in other parts of the state. Both parties claim the state, but

DEMONSTRATIONS IN BRYAN'S FAVOR OVER COUNTRY.

How McKinley's Drop Was Greeted in Lowell.

On the strength of Senator Jones' claim yesterday a ratification demonstration was held yesterday afternoon in Chicago. Vast crowds gathered in front of the auditorium annex last night and organized a ratification demonstration on the strength of Chairman Jones' claim of Bryan's election. The crowd found a transparency without difficulty. It bore the mottoes "No. 76 this time." "Bryan elected," "Kentucky, Michigan, Indiana ours." They were well supplied with tin horns and rattles and proceeded to make night hideous.

As the police had not been asked permission they broke up the parade after great trouble.

At Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 5.—The streets were wild last night with thousands of shouting democrats marching behind a large banner on which was inscribed in large letter: "Bryan elected." "We will not stand 1876 again."

At Lincoln.

A despatch to the Mail this morning says:

"A monster Bryan parade is now passing through the city headed by bands. Much enthusiasm prevails. The democrats claim Bryan's election."

The Sun's Extras.

The Sun's extras with election despatches created a sensation last evening.

The city was thrown into a whirlwind of excitement by The Sun's exclusive announcement based upon its telegraphic despatches that indications pointed to Bryan's election.

So strong was the wording of these messages that The Sun immediately issued an extra edition with a three column cut of Bryan and a hopeful claim for his probable election.

As the bulletins were displayed in front of The Sun building the news spread speedily throughout the city. Suns were in great demand and the big press had a great contract to supply the demand.

The phone calls were frequent. Men who made bets wanted to know if they were winners or losers.

All inquirers were informed that the news published in the extra edition was exactly as it had been received over the wire. The city or at least a great portion of it went wild.

Every bulletin was loudly cheered as it announced that Bryan was gaining strength. Visitors to The Sun office who came in to verify what they had read in the papers and seen on the bulletins were shown the despatches as they were received and left to satisfy themselves as to the veracity of the lines and the story told over the wires.

"Jones says Bryan has 217 votes," was the bulletin that occasioned the greatest cheer. People coming from the mills read and wondered. It was only reasonable and fair to grant that the story the wires told yesterday afternoon, 30 hours after the polls closed was more accurate than those sent before the balloting had stopped Tuesday evening. The reporters were kept busy answering the telephone and business men all over the city wanted to know for certain what the returns indicated. Men said it was the old story of 12 years ago. At that time republicans had control of the wires and first stories indicated a Harrison sweep. When the accurate returns came in the next day they pointed to Cleveland's election. And these men said it was but a repetition of these times. Tuesday night every early return and bulletin favored McKinley and then when the real story came Bryan's friends felt hopeful at least.

Men who want to place bets came to The Sun office for advice, which was not given. They were reminded that their opinions should guide them in making any wagers.

After supper the crowds that thronged the street in front of the Sun building made travel difficult. Newsboys with improvised megaphones had plenty of fun, cheering for Bryan. "What's the matter with Blyan?" was shouted hundreds of times and as many times came the assurance that he was all right.

Two old gentlemen came to the editorial room and said they fervently hoped and prayed that the good news was accurate.

A prominent republican, a business man said: "I voted for McKinley, but I cannot believe those western farmers favored him. Free silver would benefit them and if they voted against it, then I have lost faith in humanity."

At 8 o'clock young men organized themselves into gangs, marched along Merrimack and Prescott streets and yelled incessantly for Bryan. The crowds grew larger and the noise and excitement greater.

A local newspaper man upon seeing the bulletins on the Sun building said: "It isn't right for the Sun to claim Bryan's election causing its readers to make bets upon false statements."

Such a statement is absurd and shows only the envious disposition of the speaker. In the first place assuming that the Sun did claim Bryan's election to a certainty why was it wrong for it to do so any more than for the paper on which the speaker is employed to claim McKinley's election to a certainty even before the vote of Lowell was taken. But the Sun made no such claim merely printing and bulletining the news as sent in by the Associated Press which is not by any means unfavorable to McKinley and which is not sending out any fake news regarding Bryan. The Sun printed the news as it appeared and the readers judged for themselves as to the outcome.

It was amusing to note the consternation in the faces of some of the republicans who rushed into the Sun office terror stricken to inquire if it were true that Bryan was gaining.

Last Night's Episodes.

The non-partisan Citizen, which conservatively estimated the election of a couple of democratic representatives, causing the wrongful change of much money, yesterday, was hard hit last night, when The Sun's Bryan dispatches began to come in to the delight of all good democrats.

The Citizen couldn't deny the despatches and being beside itself for its inability to say something to please the crowd, put out the following on its bulletin board:

"The Daily Sun has refused a bet at odds, that its dispatch is untrue."

This the Citizen people thought would secure a big bet, and having put it out, they immediately closed up shop and went home before The Sun might have an opportunity to deny the statement, which of course was a lie, pure and simple.

When The Sun reporter telephoned to the Citizen after the bulletin had been out some time, he was informed that the gentleman in the office knew nothing about the despatch or the bulletin, and that the business office was closed and that, moreover, anyone who knew anything about it had gone home.

The Sun then put out a bulletin in reply to that of its enemies and untruthful neighbors and kept open house for several hours afterward.

The bulletin which didn't states which particular despatch was untrue or who offered the money, or how much odds were offered, was attributed to the republican city committee.

A gentleman at the republican headquarters denied all knowledge of the affair and then the responsibility was laid upon the shoulders of a well meaning but young reporter of the Citizen, who in his enthusiasm for the democratic cause, Tuesday evening, elected two democratic representatives in the 27th district.

The Sun didn't begrudge the young reporter the glory of that scoop and he shouldn't become sore at The Sun's genuine scoop last night. Like the Mail man he "couldn't do all the work."

Editor of The Sun:

Sir,—The great battle is over, and although defeated, we are not disgraced, but on the contrary, do and should feel proud for the honor and privilege of standing up, though our vote be counted on the side of that able, brave and honest tribune of the masses and standard bearer of democracy, William Jennings Bryan. He has made a great and noble fight for the rights of man and the cause of progress, and whatever the future should bring forth, history will award him the prize he has so gloriously earned of being placed on the pages of history as a great and wonderful man; and all who have in any way contributed towards his election, will look back with pride in after years to the part they played in the drama of life in the battle of the ballots the present year. If he has not won the fight, he has without doubt dealt a blow to the spirit of privilege, plutocracy, monopoly and the "communism of poll" that will leave a mark that can never be erased.

H. HAMER.

The Mail has Knox elected in the sixth district, and the Citizen concedes the election of two democratic representatives, who we regret to say were defeated.

The Citizen deponeth thus:

The Republicans have elected their senators, Putnam and Brigham; they have given them fat pluralities and made them feel very happy and contented. The Democrats secure two representatives in the 27th district—Donohoe with 1494 votes, and Coughlin who has 1339. Major Rowell, contrary to Democratic rumor, is third on the list of Republican representatives. His associates are Hayes, Lang, Ramsey, Dobbins and Pattee. It is a very good delegation of conservative men.

From the Citizen: Mr. Knox goes out of Lowell with a handsome plurality. Two years ago he pulled through with but a few votes to spare this year he had 2161 to his credit. His opponent, Mr. Harrington, had the largest vote of any democratic candidate, and that was a tribute to his character which was very consoling in the midst of such disaster. Mr. Knox will continue to serve us with an experienced ability.

The republicans are already preparing to celebrate a victory which has not yet been won. They are talking of celebrating next Saturday night and possibly Col. Chadwick may call out his regiment of paraders and the plan is to have a meeting in Huntington hall.

On Robbins hill in Chelmsford last night, the republicans celebrated with a big bonfire and several houses in the vicinity were decorated and illuminated.

Solid Against Biennials

Boston, Nov. 5.—The biennial amendment to the constitution was defeated by about 20,000 majority. The vote against the proposition was very general, only three of the congressional districts having passed in favor of it. In some of the other districts the vote was as high as four to one against the amendment.

MANUFACTURES DIAMONDS

PROFESSOR MOISSON MAKES ONE IN TEN MINUTES.

A Little Carbon and Iron, a Crucible, Furnace and Electricity—Wasn't a "Searchlight," However, and Hohimoors Will Still Be Expensive.

"Diamonds made while you wait."

No one need be at all startled should this sign appear in the window of some enterprising up to date dealer, for Mr. Henri Moisson of the Institute of France and the Academie des Sciences demonstrated its practicability before a distinguished audience at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, the other evening by manufacturing a diamond before their very eyes. It was done in ten minutes.

Mr. Moisson is 45 years old. He is a man of slender frame and medium height. His hair is jet black, his beard streaked with gray. He speaks only French, but his crucible talked the universal language, and the experiment was watched with absorbed interest.

Professor Moisson told how he had discovered the composition of diamonds by reducing specimens of diamonds to ashes. Rather suggestive of that famous treat of dissolved pearls in the matter of expensiveness!

The scientist found out by the process that in all these diamonds, save one very pure gem from Brazil, there was iron, while the Cape diamonds came from earth that contained granite and graphite.

Granite is the effect of great pressure. As cast iron increases in volume in passing from the liquid to the solid state, he was led to believe that if an element of carbon were inclosed in a globule of cast iron that was cooling, it would be subjected to the requisite pressure. He had experimented to ascertain the different stages through which carbon passes and had obtained pure carbon—graphite—by very high temperature.

High temperature alone, however, would not yield the crystallized form of carbon known to commerce as "diamond." Heat at sufficient pressure would, he believed, and he at last succeeded in proving it.

In order to obtain a heat sufficiently great and at the same time measurable he devised a simple electric furnace, and there it was before his audience.

It consisted of two clay bricks, one 18 inches square on the surface and a foot thick, with another above it half as thick. In the lower brick was a hollow large enough to contain the crucible, while two carbon electrodes connected with a battery entered the cavity, which was sprinkled with magnesia to prevent the formation of calcium carbide.

In the crucible were placed soft iron filings and charcoal. The furnace was covered up and the current turned on. In three minutes the indicator showed that things inside the little furnace were 2,500 degrees hot and folks began to think of last July.

The clay was boiling and flaming before their eyes. Professor Moisson carelessly laid his hand on the top brick and kept it there, just to show that the heat didn't come through.

At the end of ten minutes the little wizard turned off the current, lifted the cover, the underside a white mass of flame, and dropped it in some water. He took out the crucible with tongs and dropped it into cold water.

When the crucible was cold, he broke it and took out an ingot as big as a common bullet. He explained the process which he must go through to eliminate the iron, in which was imbedded the crystallized carbon—the diamond.

Then the slender Frenchman spoiled it all by telling his audience that he had never been able to make a diamond larger than one millimeter in diameter and of no commercial value, but he hoped later on to produce a regular "searchlight." Then the sign "Diamonds made while you wait" will become familiar.

He told a lot of interesting things about diamonds. He said the little black specks found in diamonds called "crapaude" in France, "pogs" in New York, which detract from the value of the stones, were the first proof to him that he had got on nature's track.

He said that when cooling the crucible in molten lead (!) the crystal takes the shape of a rectangular figure, but when mercury is used in cooling the crucible the diamonds are octahedion.

These latter, like similar diamonds found at the Cape fields, split when exposed to the air, an additional proof to Moisson that diamonds are produced by pressure. These pressures are principally expansion power.

And diamonds will still be expensive.—New York World.

Bread Cast Upon the Waters Returns.

Thirteen years ago Mr. and Mrs. William Walker resided in Santa Fe, N. M., and rented a house of a wealthy Spaniard named Marcia. He had one son, an only child, who was greatly worshiped by his parents. The boy took a malignant fever, and during his illness Mrs. Walker, in a neighborly way, cooked many dainty things and cared for the little sufferer. He finally died. Mr. and Mrs. Walker moved to Brazil, Ind., where Mr. Walker died nine years ago. Mrs. Walker has received information that Marcia had also died, and in his will bequeathed to her his immense fortune, which would have fallen to his son had he been living.

Good Blood

Is essential to health. Every nook and corner of the system is reached by the blood, and on its quality the condition of every organ depends. Good blood means strong nerves, good digestion, robust health. Impure blood means scrofula, dyspepsia, rheumatism, catarrh or other diseases. The surest way to have good blood is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, and sends the elements of health and strength to every nerve, organ and tissue. USING OLD AIRS.

Almost Sacrilegious Use of Old Tunes by Vaudeville Song Writers.

The tunes to which new doggerel is sung in the vaudevilles are usually paraphrases of old airs. The example was set by David Braham long ago in making music for Edward Harrigan's songs. The notes of "Johanna Lives In Harlem" were scarcely altered from "The Last Rose of Summer," and the still remembered jingle of "The Isle of Blackwell" was "Villikens and His Dinah" over again. The once popular war ballad, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching," had a tune which musical plagiarists never tired of using, and, with slight changes in notes and rhythm, it has served the purpose of many songs, notably that of "Down on the Farm."

This sort of adapting has been practiced with particular industry of late, and hardly one of the current ballads in the variety shows has really original melody. "I Cannot Sing the Old Songs," which Aimee sang with a livelier movement to the ditty of "Pretty as a Picture," has lately been made to do service once more, and the rousing air of "The Irish Minstrel" has been devoted to a patter song. In some cases one air is appropriated for the verse and another for the chorus.

These seizures of time honored tunes sometimes seem almost sacrilegious, as in the case of the popular parody of "Just Tell Them That You Saw Me," for the chorus of which the stirringly martial strains of "Marching Through Georgia" are degraded to a verse telling of the discovery by an eater at a cheap restaurant of a single oyster in a stew, whereupon the oyster is made to declare, to the inspiring air of the war song:

Don't tell them that you saw me, or I will lose my job.
And then the oyster wiped away a tear.
I've served in fifty-seven stews since 12 o'clock today.
For I'm the only oyster working here.

Member of the Associated Press

We may expect to see the Mail claiming that the prosperity of our city has been injured by the action of the Sun in putting out bulletins favoring Mr. Bryan at a time when McKinley's friends had claimed everything. We believe in claiming what belongs to us.

The people of Lowell, and in fact the people of the entire country have learned that it is not safe to accept as genuine, the first reports of election returns, especially in a case like the present where most of the news agencies are controlled by the friends and upholders of one of the candidates. Four years ago the election of Harrison was claimed on the first returns, but the final returns showed that Harrison was defeated. Something of the same kind, though perhaps not on such a large scale occurred on this occasion, and undoubtedly for the same reason, because the news agencies and associations are controlled by republicans. Mr. Bryan may not be elected, but the returns are not all in, and until they are, it is impossible to state positively whether it is McKinley or Bryan.

THE LATE RETURNS.

The Sun yesterday afternoon and evening was the only paper in Lowell to give to the public the latest returns, which were all in Mr. Bryan's favor, and showed that the extravagant claims made for McKinley were quickly being cut down, while Chairman Jones of the democratic national committee issued statements that there were still strong hopes of Mr. Bryan's election.

The news caused a great sensation, and the democrats of Lowell especially were delighted to find that even if Bryan should not be elected, he would not be so badly beaten as the republican papers and the press despatches would make it appear.

Yesterday morning it appeared from the returns given out by the Associated Press, that Mr. Bryan would not receive more than 193 votes in the electoral college, but in the afternoon these claims were utterly overthrown by the news from the western states, particularly from Texas, Nebraska and Kansas, while Indiana, Kentucky, Washington and Wyoming are almost certain to go for Bryan. Yesterday morning the claims of the republicans and those of the Associated Press gave McKinley considerably over 300 votes.

It is not surprising that the friends of Mr. Bryan, the advocates of free silver, and the enemies of the gold standard should create a demonstration on hearing the news that the Bryan claim was to be increased by the addition of several states. The Sun hastened to give the public news both on the bulletin boards and in extra editions, and it is safe to say that no news of the kind was ever more greedily devoured.

The Mail this morning sneers in a very contemptible way at the Sun's claims, and the news issued in its extra editions which were Associated Press dispatches, and in every way as reliable, if not a great deal more so, than the earlier returns from the same source. The Mail says The Sun made these claims in order to sell papers, but in its columns side by side with this statement it publishes despatches of the wild demonstrations made in Chicago and other parts of the country on receipt of the same news which was issued by the Sun. Despite the statements of the Mail the dispatches published in last night's extra editions of the Sun are today confirmed, and there is yet a possibility of Mr. Bryan's election.

The Globe, which is a gold paper, today has this statement in its head lines: Figures vary; electoral vote in some doubt; St. Louis Republic only concedes 222 (to McKinley.) The Boston Herald, which has been one of the most determined gold bug organs, today says "Later Returns Reduce Doubtful States," viz., reduces McKinley's vote in the electoral college. But how could late returns reduce McKinley's strength if the figures claimed for him were not erroneous? The contest will be much closer than was expected, and it shows that practically half the people of the country want free silver.

LIFE ALL OVER AGAIN

STORY OF JAMES A. WATERBURY, THE CORDAGE KING.

He Has Started His Business Life Anew After Being a Millionaire—A Washerwoman's Deathbed Prediction Has Come True.

James M. Waterbury, former king of the Cordage trust and late hero of the most picturesque case of supplementary proceedings in the record of the New York courts, clubman, society leader and financial magnate two years ago, has begun life anew in an office in Brooklyn. He opened an office for the handling of the commercial affairs of a small ropewalk located in North Eighth street.

John Good worked for the Lawrences in their factory, corner of McKibbon street and Bushwick avenue back in the old days preceding 1873. He was a poor boy. His mother was a washerwoman, who lived at the corner of Merrill and Siegel streets. James Good, however, invented a machine which was the most wonderful machine ever introduced into the ropemaking trade. It was called a "frame," and it did away with all the tedious process of "hackling" the hemp by hand. Good's mother gave her son such money as she could afford to perfect his invention, but in the end he was compelled to go to his employers, the Lawrences, and get them to take out his patents on a contract of 50 per cent of the royalties. Young Good, so he claimed, did not get 50 per cent, however. The Lawrences, who advanced the necessary money, took it all, he declared. Mr. Good went into the courts. It was a long fight. Eventually it was decided in his favor. But meantime his old mother died, and on her deathbed, according to the testimony of any number of the old residents of the ropemaking districts, she prophesied that the people who had taken advantage of her son's inventive ability would eventually become bankrupt and that her son would become a wealthy man.

The collapse of the Cordage trust carried down the Walls, the Lawrences, the Tuckers and the Cartors as well as the Waterburys. But John Good had, before the trust came into existence, won in the supreme court his suit against the Lawrences and had established a factory at the corner of Washington street and Park avenue. It is an immense factory, and every rope factory in the world pays royalties on the machines manufactured there.

At the time, or shortly afterward, of the institution of the Cordage trust Good opened a little rope factory in Astoria. He hired Stevie Burns from Mr. Walt's old "walk"—where incidentally Berry Wall, "king of the dudes," used to work, in the office for $25 a week, as superintendent.

When the trust went to the wall, the factory in Astoria grew. Today it is one of the largest in the world. And besides it Stevie Burns, superintendent, makes periodical visits to John Good's big rope factories in England and Australia.

Meantime the old cordage kings have passed, by process of nature or decree of court, into the realms of things that have been.

And James M. Waterbury, who conceived and controlled the great Cordage trust three years ago, who astonished society with the magnificence of his entertainments, who made the whole financial world stand aghast for a time, has begun his business life anew.

It looks as if the humble washerwoman's prophecy had been fulfilled.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

TREED TWO BEARS.

Two Children Stick to Their Game and Bag Both.

Archie Paige, 12 years old, and his sister Nora, 14 years old, who live in the hills about two miles back of Westbrookville, a hamlet northeast of Port Jervis, N. Y., went out chestnutting in the woods on Saturday. Their dog started a mother bear and her cub. The dog chased the bears a long way, worried them and finally drove them up a tree.

The children had no weapons, but they followed the dog and enjoyed the sport. They went to the farmhouse of Mr. Nation, on whose lands the bears were treed, and asked him to come out with his gun, but Nation paid no attention to their request. Night came on, and Archie and Nora remained on guard with their dog, which kept up its barking. When morning dawned, the trio were still there, and the bear and cub still sat in the high branches of the tree. They got word to Westbrookville eventually, and John Brown, an old hunter, went and shot the bears.

The parents of the children, alarmed by their failure to return home at night, were about to start out in search of them in the morning when they appeared with the old hunter, who wanted assistance in bringing in the carcasses.—New York Sun.

Bureau Girls May Wear Short Skirts.

Pretty nearly a hundred of the girls who make paper money at the bureau of engraving and printing are bicyclists and wear the up to date costumes of the modern wheelwomen. Some envious critic complained to the chief of the bureau, Claude M. Johnson. The result was that Mr. Johnson issued an order to the effect that the girls must not come to the office in short skirts, although he had no objection to their riding the bicycle. All the employees affected formed in line and marched to Mr. Johnson's office to protest. One of the best looking of the girls was put forward as spokesman, and she argued at length on the inconvenience of long skirts and the freedom of short ones. Her arguments were convincing, for, after taking the matter under consideration for an hour or so, Mr. Johnson had the objectionable order rescinded. The girls are, of course, greatly pleased with their victory, and now even bloomers are talked of as a possibility.—New York World.

Circle City's Bathhouse.

Joe Smith has introduced a novelty in Circle City which should entitle him to a statue in bronze in commemoration of his beneficences. He has built a floating bathhouse, which is tied up alongside the river and in close proximity to the town. There are four bathtubs already in use, and he is making preparations to put in two more. The water is pumped from the river into a large boiler, where it is heated to any temperature desired. During the winter the house will sit on the ice, a hole being kept open all the time through which to draw the water. Charges for bathing are reasonable, being but $1 a bath.—Alaska News.

FOR HURLING DYNAMITE

MACEO'S WEAPON FIRST OF KIND USED IN WARFARE.

Built In New York, Taken to Cuba by the Three Friends In September and Promptly Placed In Action—A Veritable Monster of Destruction.

Antonio Maceo, the Cuban insurgent leader in the extreme west of Cuba, used a dynamite fieldpiece for the first time in warfare at the battles of Ceja del Negro and Guamo Mountain on Oct. 3 and 4 and reports himself highly pleased with its execution.

The Cuban dynamite gun is an American patent. General Maceo has one in Pinar del Rio, and General Calixto Garcia has another in the Oriente. Both guns were made in New York and are known to American army officers as the Simms-Dudley dynamite rifle. They have been tested in this country and have proved satisfactory.

The gun consists of three parallel tubes, the middle one being considerably longer than the side tubes. The side tubes are connected at the upper and lower ends. In fact, the system resembles a trombone. The projectile is fired, or rather blown, from the middle tube, which is made of the best forged steel and is not more than half an inch thick. The projectile force is compressed air. At the extremity of the first side tube is a breech mechanism, where a cartridge of ordinary smokeless powder is inserted and then exploded. This explosion drives the air in this tube through the connection to the second tube and down the second into the middle tube or rifle and pushes out the projectile which is there.

The projectile moves slowly at first, and then with great rapidity. The rifle barrel is made long, so that the projectile will have a chance to gain a high velocity before emerging from the gun barrel. The projectile is loaded into the tube at the breech, and the large head of the arrow shaped projectile contains the explosive material. The main barrel is 15 feet long, and the side air tubes are four feet shorter. They are made of wrought iron. The projectile looks like a long arrow with a large, elongated head. It weighs 33 pounds. Of this 13 pounds are of high explosive compounds. It is equipped with time fuses and will burrow into the ground eight feet before exploding. To throw one of these shells 1 mile to 1½ miles requires 15 ounces of high grade smokeless powder. This will generate a pressure of 850 pounds to the square inch in the force tubes.

There is not the usual cannon roar when these guns are discharged. They make a sharp, snapping or a crushing noise, as if a stick of timber were being broken. There is no flash or smoke, as the flame and smoke are consumed in the chamber of the tube where the cartridge is exploded. At night the guns cannot be located except by the peculiar noise they make. They spit no flame or sparks and show no light. Judging from reports received by the Cubans in New York the havoc wrought within the Spanish lines in the battles around the city of Pinar del Rio must have been terrific. The dynamite shells dug into the ground and tore open large gaps in the Spanish breastworks. They tore into the squares formed by the Spaniards and scattered the dead and dying in all directions. General Melquizo's columns became panic stricken and fled in wild disorder. It was the American dynamite gun which won the victory for Maceo. The Spaniards have acknowledged its effectiveness upon their troops.

The Diario de Ejercito, the Spanish army journal, said in a late number: "The Cubans had a new gun which gave our troops a great deal of trouble. It must have been very light, as they moved it about with great ease. We tried to capture it, but could not locate its position until it had completed its deadly work and was moved again. Its destructiveness was phenomenal. Fragments of the explosive hurled at us were sent to Havana for analysis by experts of the navy yard."

This gun, now used by Maceo, left Jacksonville Sept. 4 on the Three Friends and was landed in Pinar del Rio province, near Bahia Honda, Sept. 9. The expedition was led by Brigadier General Juan Rius Rivera, a Puerto Rican. The gun is under the immediate command of a well known civil engineer of New York, Colonel J. R. Villalon. His gunners are Charles Rockwell of New York, W. Gray Lee, John Drew, J. C. Smith, C. F. Weiss and a party of Russian artillerymen. The gun which is with General Garcia's force has made no record yet. It is expected to be heard from very soon.

Captain Howell P. Elwell is the designer of the pneumatic dynamite gun. It was tested at Glen Cove, N. Y., April 13, before the board of ordnance and fortifications of the United States army and representatives of the navy department and General Nelson A. Miles, all of whom considered the gun a success.

The new gun and carriage do not weigh much over 2,000 pounds. The gun has little or no recoil, because, as the force due to the discharge is completely absorbed within itself, the strain on the base can amount to nothing.—New York Journal.

A Heavyweight.

A man weighing 482 pounds and mounted on a safety bicycle created quite a sensation in West Norris street last Tuesday afternoon. When he dismounted at Twenty-third street to rest himself, a great crowd gathered around him and scarcely gave him room to breathe. He stood holding his bicycle for awhile, and when he saw that the crowd was increasing in size and that he was liable to be crushed he retreated to a nearby saloon and refreshed himself with a glass of cool lager. When he emerged from the saloon, several young men approached him and asked him his weight. He told them that he weighed 482 pounds and claimed to be the heaviest cyclist on earth. He is a native of Cleveland and intends to stay in this city for some time.—Philadelphia Record.

The Protestant Episcopal church of the United States is about to organize an army of uniformed evangelists who will be under military discipline and compete with the Salvation Army and the American Volunteers in the field of Christian work among the poor. This was decided on at a meeting of clergymen from different parts of the country held in the Church Missions House, New York.

Lay of the Slang Button.

Buttons bearing sentiments of every kind and class
Young Frederick Brown put on his coat and went to see his lass.
She disapproved the button fad and told young Frederick Brown
That he must take his buttons off or she would turn him down.
Next eve he called. Alackaday, two buttons still had he.
One motto read, "I'm very dry," and one, "This round's on me."
She gazed at him with tearless eyes and face as white as chalk,
Then handed him a button badge that read, "Go take a walk."
—Chicago Times-Herald.

Every day engagements are entered into, and marriages are made between people who have no business to be married. Women enter into the most serious obligation of life without the proper physical equipment for it. When a woman marries, she tacitly makes the declaration that she means to become the mother of children. This declaration ought also to mean that she is physically able to perform what she undertakes. The bearing of a child is all too frequently an injustice to both mother and child. The woman who expects to bear intellectual and physically healthy children, should be herself in strong and vigorous health. The organs that make her a woman should be free from any taint of disease or weakness. If they are not, the child will have a bare chance for health, and the mother may easily make herself a weak, nervous, semi-invalid for the rest of her life. Female weakness of any kind—whether hereditary or acquired—may be cured by the right sort of treatment. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is designed for the treatment and cure of just this one class of diseases and no other. It works in a perfectly rational way directly on the organs affected. It cleanses them of all impurities, allays any inflammation that may be present—and that generally is present in sickness; restores the organs to their natural, healthy, regular action—prepares them for the accomplishment of woman's greatest work, and if taken during gestation, the time of parturition will be comparatively safe and painless.

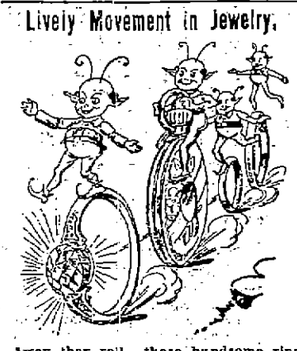

The "Favorite Prescription" is not a cure-all, and if the general system is run down, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery should be taken in connection with the "Favorite Prescription." These two medicines together have the most wonderful influence on a woman's health. They will round out the hollows in her cheeks, bring redness to bloodless lips, and brightness to lack-lustre eyes. the few scattering returns that are in are of so indefinite a nature that any claims, no matter by whom made, are of an uncertain character.

Wisconsin is sure for the Republican column by an enormous plurality.

Minnesota, which was regarded as doubtful by both parties, has surprised everybody by the size of its Republican plurality, and McKinley will have 30,000 to 40,000 more votes in the state than Bryan. Governor Clough, whose election was considered doubtful, is certainly elected.

The latest information from the two Dakotas shows that North Dakota is very sure for McKinley, and the probability is South Dakota will be found in the same column, although the result is close.

The Republicans claim Wyoming and Washington, but the probabilities seem against them in both states.

Oregon has gone for McKinley, and Colorado, as was expected, has given Bryan a plurality, and Adams has, without doubt, been elected governor.

Idaho, Montana, Utah and Nevada are all gone for Bryan by heavy majorities.

California has, on the strength of the returns at hand, undoubtedly gone for McKinley, the city of San Francisco giving him a plurality of 6307, and one-half of the outside precincts show a Democratic gain of 41 votes, showing that the Democratic reliance upon the navy support of the rural districts were not entirely unwarranted. Delaware, where the Republican party has been in twain because of the Addicks-Iggins fight, has kept in the Republican column. The vote for the Republican electors in this state has been unusually large, showing that the factional dpute did not extend, in any great measure, to the national ticket.

The vote in Maryland has shown an interesting reversal from that of the last presidential election. Cleveland carried the state by a plurality of 1,130, and this year McKinley has a plurality of slightly over 21,000 in the city of Baltimore alone.

Gold Democrats Helped McKinley.

Wheeling, Nov. 5.—Incomplete returns continue to show Republican gains, and there is no reason to change Tuesday night's figures of 15,000 plurality. All four Republican candidates for congress are undoubtedly elected by increased majorities. Atkinson (Rep.), for governor, and the entire Republican state ticket is elected, and both branches of the legislature are Republican. The Gold Democrats generally voted the Republican ticket.

A COLORED COUNCILLOR.

One of the Features of the Election In the Bay State.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Complete returns from this state, though unofficial, and subject to revision, give the following votes for president and governor:

Bryan, 102,665; McKinley, 267,787; Palmer, 11,519; McKinley's plurality, 165,-132. In 1892 the total vote was: Cleveland, 176,813; Harrison, 202,814; Harrison's plurality, 26,001.

The complete vote for governor gives: Prince, 13,674; Williams, 101,099; Wolcott, 256,282; Wolcott's plurality, 155,183. In 1895 the total vote was: Greenhalge, 186,280; Williams, 121,599; Greenhalge's plurality, 64,681.

But two towns in the entire state were carried by Williams—Blackstone and Alford—the former by 15 plurality and the latter by a plurality of 1, while the presidential vote in Alford was a tie.

The returns on biennial amendments are not yet complete, but both amendments are defeated by 25,000 to 30,000 majority.

Of the 13 congressmen elected, all but one—Fitzgerald, in the Ninth district—are Republicans, the delegation remaining politically the same as at present.

The executive council will consist of eight Republicans, the single Democratic member of last year's council—John H. Sullivan—being defeated for a re-election by Isaac B. Allen, a colored Republican, born a slave in Hampton, Va., by about 275 plurality. It is understood that Mr. Sullivan will ask for a recount.

The composition of the senate, as the result of the election, is as follows, the table for 1895 being given for the purpose of comparison:

In the Pine Tree State.

Portland, Me., Nov. 5.—Late returns from the Maine election give McKinley a plurality just a trifle short of that given the Republicans at the September election, or about 48,000. This statement is based on returns received from 284 towns, which give McKinley 66,152; Bryan, 26,057; Palmer, 1283; Levering, 915; Bryan and Watson, 1301. The same towns in September gave a Republican plurality of 40,176. The towns yet to be heard from cannot change these figures much.

Revised Figures From Granite State.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 5.—Returns from all but 13 towns and wards in New Hampshire give McKinley 50,732; Bryan, 20,223; Palmer, 3241; Bryan and Watson, 351; Levering, 521; Bentley, 54; Matchett, 62. McKinley's plurality, 34,600. The missing towns and wards gave Cleveland 206 plurality in 1892. For governor, Ramsdell (Rep.) has 46,648; Kent (Dem.), 26,-407; Ramsdell's plurality, 19,841. For member of congress, First district, Sulloway (Rep. has 10,442 plurality; Second district, Clarke (Rep.) has 12,255 plurality. The Republicans have elected 200 members of the house of representatives, the Democrats 76, and two precincts voted not to send.

Not Looking Up Figures.

St. Albans, Vt., Nov. 5.—The Vermonters do not yet know just the size of the vote in their state, or the plurality given to Major McKinley, and it looks as if nobody cared to canvass the vote. Among the elements of certainty in the vote is the diminutiveness of the Gold Democratic, Populistic and Prohibitory polling strength. McKinley's plurality will be about 35,000, as already conservatively estimated. The Republican state committee is paying little attention to collecting the returns.

Rhody's Contribution.

Providence, Nov. 5.—The complete returns of the state give Bryan, 13,749; McKinley, 37,459; Levering, 1,185; Palmer, 203, and Matchett, 65.

Tammany's Woe.

Albany, Nov. 5.—The curious part of the figures, as the complete results become known, is that for the first time in a presidential election the city of New York has gone for the Republican ticket, and the defeat of the regular organized Democracy there, Tammany Hall, has been made equal to the defeat of two years ago, when Mayor Strong was elected. Frank S. Black runs behind about 25,000, but still his plurality is greater than that of any candidate for governor. In 1882, when Cleveland made his first run, six counties remained true to Republicanism. In 1894, when Hill was soundly beaten, he managed to get three counties, and his party captured seven counties last year. These facts show the significance of Tuesday's remarkable vote. The congressional delegation from this state remains as before, 29 Republicans and five Democrats. The assembly will stand, according to the present canvass: Republicans, 114; Independent Republican, 1; Democrats, 35. The present assembly stands, Republicans, 103; Democrats, 47. The new legislature will elect a United States senator, to succeed Senator Hill, and on a joint ballot, the result will be 85 more Republican votes than Democrats.

Missouri Figures.

St. Louis, Nov. 5.—According to the latest returns, there will be in the lower house 81 Democrats, 26 Republicans, 12 Populists, 10 doubtful and 11 not heard from. There were 17 of the 34 members voted for. Of these the Democrats captured 11, which added to the six holdover Democrats, will give them 17 senators, as against 16 Republicans and one Populist. The Globe-Democrat (Rep.) concedes that the Democrats have elected 12 of the 15 congressmen in Missouri. The presidential vote in St. Louis is all in, and stands: Bryan, 50,276; McKinley, 65,845; Levering, 200; Palmer, 127; Bentley, 24. McKinley's plurality is 15,569. Complete returns, as to the state, have not yet been received, but the Republicans concede the state to Bryan.

McKinley and Democratic Governor.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 5.—McKinley's estimated plurality in Delaware is 2600. Tunnell (Dem.), for governor, has 2800 plurality, and Handy (Dem.), for congress, about the same. The legislature is in doubt. Addicks carried Kent county, but both parties claim the Sussex legislative ticket. If Addicks has Sussex, he will control the legislature, and be elected to the United States senate. If he loses it, the Democrats will have the house. The Democrats carried the legislative ticket in Newcastle county. McKinley carried all three counties. The constitutional convention will be Republican by a small majority.

Pingree's Great Run.

Detroit, Nov. 5.—The remarkable run of Mayor Pingree, governor-elect of Michigan, is perhaps the most interesting feature of the election results in this state. In spite of what had been alleged to be all kinds of opposition, both within and without his party, the Detroit mayor's plurality will exceed all of the McKinley electors by 15,000 to 20,000 votes. The Detriot Tribune (free silver) announces that practically official returns give Pingree a plurality of 65,930. McKinley, on the same count, received 52,050. In the missing counties referred to the vote is showing quite remarkable Republican gains.

Democrats Concede North Dakota.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 5.—McKinley has carried this state by at least 5000 and entire Republican state ticket is elected by about the same majority. This is one of the surprises of the election, as the indications were that the state ticket would run 2500 behind McKinley. Chairman Kleinogel of the Democratic state committee concedes the state to McKinley by 5000, and the election of the entire Republican state ticket.

Oregon For McKinley.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5.—Nearly complete returns from all but six small counties in Oregon give McKinley 34,854; Bryan, 31,509; McKinley's majority, 3342. Complete returns will not materially change results.

The Lone Star Vote.

Dallas, Nov. 5.—About half the counties in the state have been heard from officially, and, approximately, Bryan and Sewall's plurality is placed at 100,000. Culberson and the state ticket will beat Kerby and Populist state ticket by 75,-000. Chairman Black claims that 12 out of 13 congressional districts have gone Democratic, the Tenth being the only doubtful one.

In Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 5.—The Republican state committee has abandoned all claims to state, except auditor and treasurer, which Judge Post says the Republicans have elected. He concedes the election of Holcomb (fusion), for governor, by 8000, but says that Holcomb's vote in the state will exceed Bryan's by 3000 to 4000. He claims only the congressmen from the First and Second districts.

Plurality Reduced.

Richmond, Nov. 5.—It is impossible to estimate accurately the Democratic majority in Virginia. Returns are slow, but the Democrats have not more than 25,-000 plurality, and by the last advices, all the congressional districts, save the Ninth and Tenth, which are Republican. These districts are in the Shenandoah valley and southwestern part of the state.

The North Carolina Contest.

Raleigh, Nov. 5.—Bryan has carried this state by not less than 10,000. His vote is far in excess of that of Watson for governor, who is defeated by Russell (Rep.). The Democrats and Populists have voted solidly for the fusion electors. The legislature is anti-Democratic in both houses.

Fusion Wins In Kansas.

Topeka, Nov. 5.—The fusionists seem to have five congressmen, the Republicans two, and one in doubt. The legislature, on joint ballot, appears to be two-thirds fusion. Chairman Breidenthal (Pop.) claims 108 of the 165 members of the senate and house.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR PRESERVES THE Natural Color of the Hair

The Illinois Landslide.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The complete unofficial returns give McKinley a plurality in Cook county of 67,536; outside of Cook county, 71,180, making his total plurality in the state 138,718. Tanner's plurality over Altgeld is estimated at 112,845.

Phenomenal Figures.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—Complete returns from all but a few of the 67 counties in the state give McKinley a plurality of 295,950. It is not believed that the official count will show much variation from these figures.

Bryan Leads.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 5.—Precincts thus far heard from give McKinley 17,704; Bryan, 23,461. This is about one-half the vote of the state. Returns are coming in slowly.

Nevada's Light Vote.

Carson City, Nev., Nov. 5.—Complete returns from 55 precincts give McKinley 917; Bryan and Sewall, 3478; Bryan and Watson, 195.

The Next Congress.

Washington, Nov. 5.—It is impossible at this time to make an estimate of the Fifty-fifth congress that could run the gauntlet of "later returns." But enough is known to justify the statement that the gold standard will control both senate and house by an overwhelming majority. This does not mean that the senate will have a Republican gold majority, but that Gold Republicans and Gold Democrats will control on financial questions. The following tables show how it looks at present:

CLEVELAND GLAD

That the Reports Indicate McKinley's Election.

HE AND CARLISLE WITH THE GOLD BUGS.

They Imagine Gold Standard is Saved.

Washington, Nov. 5—President Cleveland is one of the happiest men in the country. His proverbial luck has not deserted him. What a satisfaction, in studying the returns, to remember that the Chicago convention, by a two-thirds vote, refused to endorse him or his administration, or to express even the slightest praise for anything he had done! Although the Palmer and Buckner movement afforded a peg upon which the administration might outwardly seem to hang its support, there has been no secret of the earnest wish for McKinley's election, and a Republican congress. Because of this avowed desire, Hoke Smith left the cabinet, and David R. Francis, who had bolted the Chicago ticket, took his place.

Secretary Carlisle had more at stake personally in this fight than even the president, and the Kentucky battle was essentially his contest. No son of the state in this generation has attained such eminence as Mr. Carlisle. One year ago he had hoped to carry Kentucky for gold standard delegates to Chicago, and friends on that basis would have presented his name for the presidency. But the free silver tide was sweeping over the country, and the state rejected Carlisle and his views by a two to one vote. Blackburn then assumed command. When the Chicago convention repudiated the gold standard policy, of which Carlisle had been an earnest exponent, the Kentucky clans made it a personal fight of the bitterest character. It is yet too early to say whether sufficient good feeling has been engendered between the Gold Democrats and the Republicans, working as close allies, to insure the selection, by these two bodies, of Mr. Carlisle for Kentucky's vacant place in the United States senate. Many blue-grass Republicans believe this would be only a fitting recognition, on the part of the Republicans, of the invaluable services of their Democratic allies.

The election results put Secretary Lamont in line for the next Democratic nomination as governor of New York. Politicians of the Hill type, who did not express an opinion in the momentous national crisis just passed, can have no standing in the future of New York Democracy. Secretary Lamont has been one of the most earnest and outspoken foes of Bryan.

Throughout the Democratic party the fight between silver and gold has been from the start a contest between the foes and the friends of the administration. In Missouri, ex-Governor Francis has led one wing, and Governor Stone, an implacable enemy of the president, the other faction. The administration element, on the basis of the Palmer and Buckner nucleus, is today arising in every part of the country, and demanding the possession of their old party. Bryan, they say, may now go over to the Populist party, but the gold standard people have a right now to ask possession of the Democratic name and organization.

Among the cabinet circle two distinct ways of looking at the election results are observable. While it was informally agreed that the administration people should say little for publication on the outcome, they are ready to chat freely upon the all-prevailing topic. Certain members of the cabinet are in the attitude of saying: "We have had a battle within our party. The contest has closed. Now let the two wings of the party get together on a harmonious basis, and to that end, let there be no gloating on the part of one Democratic element over the discomfiture of the other." This view is held by the stronger party men, and they believe the task of reconciling and reuniting the party is not insurmountable.

Other members of the cabinet and administration circles, however, are free to say that they regard the old Democratic party as wrecked. They think the Populistic wing of the party in the states where this election has shown them to be in command will continue to rule and that as between them and the gold elements there can be no possible alliance. It is contended that a more perfect union between the Populists and the wing of the Democratic party holding similar views is likely.

The administration wing of the Democratic party is sure to stand for the gold standard, whatever else it does, and all agree that there will be no union, except on the basis of sound finance. To those who do not look hopefully upon the prospect of a reunited party, the future has its sombre aspects. Many who have been life-long Democrats do not view with complacency what they regard as the thorough and final disruption of their historic party. But events may move rapidly, and there is a tendency to wait further results, and the lessons of Bryan's defeat.

Damaging Evidence Piling Up.

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 5.—The state insane asylum investigation yesterday brought out as witnesses C. D. Morgan and Mrs. E. H. Tuthill, L. H. Johnson, Samuel Parcher, Dean Nichols and Fred Bowman. The first two testified to the extreme cold in the asylum. They said that they had seen naked patients, with their hands tied behind them, sleep on the floor, with only a small rubber blanket over them, with the thermometer at 34. Mr. Johnson corroborated James Fife in his testimony about a naked child being locked up in a closet, and also the allegation that Dr. Giddings ill-treated the patients. Mr. Nichols spoke of the nauseating food served to patients. Mr. Bowman testified to selling, for use in the asylum, butter so poor as not to be salable elsewhere. He said that the superintendent bought it at reduced prices for the patients.

CURE CONSTIPATION.

A BIG BANQUET

At St. Jean Baptist Church Last Evening.

The firms of A. G. Pollard & Co., F. G. Mitchell & Co., the O'Donnell & Gilbride company, J. L. Chalifoux and Parthenais Bros., entertained about 300 of their employes with a complimentary concert and banquet in the auditorium of the magnificent new St. Jean Baptiste church last night.

The centre of the big floor space was set with eight long rows of tables which were laden with choice fruits and viands, and set with bouquets of beautiful flowers.

The Olympian orchestra discoursed enlivening music from the gallery and added much to the cheerfulness of the occasion.

Non Lussier had general charge and he was assisted by 25 gentlemen waiters in full dress.

Tonight a concert and banquet complimentary to the ushers, waitresses and members of the choir who assisted at the banquet following the recent unveiling of the Fr. Garin monument will be tendered under the personal supervision of Mrs. C. H. Boisvert.

There will be twenty-five young ladies dressed in white to wait upon the tables.

This will be the last social affair of any nature that will be held in the church until after the dedication.

OVERSEERS OF THE POOR.

Held a Meeting and Approved All Bills.

The overseers of the poor held a meeting last evening and approved bills. It was voted that hereafter all supplies for the pauper department aggregating a cost of $25 or more be purchased only by vote of the full board.

It was also voted to request the city treasurer to pay no more bills without the sanction of the board.

The overseers discussed for a long time what to do with the three blind men who formerly sawed wood at the city wood yard. Several motions were considered but no action resulted.

The bill for work at the city farm buildings did not come before the board of overseers of the poor for approval. It was stated that the bill was approved by the lands and buildings committee in the afternoon, and this caused much unfavorable comment, inamuch as several of the overseers had expressed themselves as opposed to approving the bill. The contract for furnishing beef was awarded to Michael Corbett, the lowest bidder.

The people of the Page Street church gave a reception to their new pastor, Rev. A. E. Wilson and his wife last night.

IN THE BALANCE

That is How the Election of President Is.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN BRYAN'S FAVOR OVER COUNTRY.

How McKinley's Drop Was Greeted in Lowell.

On the strength of Senator Jones' claim yesterday a ratification demonstration was held yesterday afternoon in Chicago. Vast crowds gathered in front of the auditorium annex last night and organized a ratification demonstration on the strength of Chairman Jones' claim of Bryan's election. The crowd found a transparency without difficulty. It bore the mottoes "No. 75 this time." "Bryan elected," "Kentucky, Michigan, Indiana ours." They were well supplied with tin horns and rattles and proceeded to make night hideous.

As the police had not been asked permission they broke up the parade after great trouble.

At Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 5.—The streets were wild last night with thousands of shouting democrats marching behind a large banner on which was inscribed in large letter: "Bryan elected." "We will not stand 1878 again."

At Lincoln.

A despatch to the Mail this morning says:

"A monster Bryan parade is now passing through the city headed by bands. Much enthusiasm prevails. The democrats claim Bryan's election."

The Sun's Extras.

The Sun's extras with election despatches created a sensation last evening.

The city was thrown into a whirlwind of excitement by The Sun's exclusive announcement based upon its telegraphic despatches that indications pointed to Bryan's election.

So strong was the wording of these messages that The Sun immediately issued an extra edition with a three column cut of Bryan and a hopeful claim for his probable election.

As the bulletins were displayed in front of The Sun building the news spread speedily throughout the city. Suns were in great demand and the big press had a great contract to supply the demand.

The phone calls were frequent. Men who made bets wanted to know if they were winners or losers.

All inquirers were informed that the news published in the extra edition was exactly as it had been received over the wire. The city or at least a great portion of it went wild.

Every bulletin was loudly cheered as it announced that Bryan was gaining strength. Visitors to The Sun office who came in to verify what they had read in the papers and seen on the bulletins were shown the despatches as they were received and left to satisfy themselves as to the veracity of the lines and the story told over the wires.

"Jones says Bryan has 217 votes," was the bulletin that occasioned the greatest cheer. People coming from the mills read and wondered. It was only reasonable and fair to grant that the story the wires told yesterday afternoon, 20 hours after the polls closed was more accurate than those sent before the balloting had stopped Tuesday evening. The reporters were kept busy answering the telephone and business men all over the city wanted to know for certain what the returns indicated. Men said it was the old story of 12 years ago. At that time republicans had control of the wires and first stories indicated a Harrison sweep. When the accurate returns came in the next day they pointed to Cleveland's election. And these men said it was but a repetition of these times. Tuesday night every early return and bulletin favored McKinley and then when the real story came Bryan's friends felt hopeful at least.

Men who want to place bets came to The Sun office for advice, which was not given. They were reminded that their opinions should guide them in making any wagers.

After supper the crowds that thronged the street in front of the Sun building made travel difficult. Newsboys with improvised megaphones had plenty of fun, cheering for Bryan. "What's the matter with Bryan?" was shouted hundreds of times and as many times came the assurance that he was all right.

Two old gentlemen came to the editorial room and said they fervently hoped and prayed that the good news was accurate.

A prominent republican, a business man said: "I voted for McKinley, but I cannot believe those western farmers favored him. Free silver would benefit them and if they voted against it, then I have lost faith in humanity."

At 8 o'clock young men organized themselves into gangs, marched along Merrimack and Prescott streets and yelled incessantly for Bryan. The crowds grew larger and the noise and excitement greater.

A local newspaper man upon seeing the bulletins on the Sun building said: "It isn't right for the Sun to claim Bryan's election causing its readers to make bets upon false statements."

Such a statement is absurd and shows only the envious disposition of the speaker. In the first place assuming that the Sun did claim Bryan's election to a certainty why was it wrong for it to do so any more than for the paper on which the speaker is employed to claim McKinley's election to a certainty even before the vote of Lowell was taken. But the Sun made no such claim merely printing and bulletining the news as sent it by the Associated Press which is not by any means unfavorable to McKinley and which is not sending out any fake news regarding Bryan. The Sun printed the news as it appeared and the readers judged for themselves as to the outcome.

It was amusing to note the consternation in the faces of some of the republicans who rushed into the Sun office terror stricken to inquire if it were true that Bryan was gaining.

See election notes on the third page.

What Senator Pearson Says.

Senator Pearson, chairman of the democratic city committee, said yesterday:

"I think it will be found that the cause of Bryan running behind George Fred Williams in this city resulted in the members becoming confused and voting repeatedly for all the electors for Bryan and Sewall.

"Where there was a chance for the voters to decide between a republican and democratic candidate, without being confused, as was shown in the vote for member of congress, then the standing of the parties in Lowell was shown.

"While I believe in the Australian ballot, I think there is a possibility under it for hundreds of voters to participate in the party caucus and then not vote for the candidate on election day.

"The republicans had one advantage over us in the last campaign. They will not acknowledge they have a machine, but the members of the party were easily led by those in control. One thing is settled. Instead of having 7000 voters, as some people imagined, we have 4500 democrats in Lowell who can be rallied on to support the ticket."

A Voice From Silver Club.

"Don't give up the ship."

William Jennings Bryan is elected, he may be counted out, but as sure as there is a God in Israel he has won the victory. He is God's man, and the impious hands which try now to snatch the laurels of victory from his grasp, will be as those which seek to control the throne of the universe.

Treasonable means will be used to deprive the people of their choice, but woe to him who defies the God of Nations.

P. A. BRADFORD.

Citizen Please Answer.

The Citizen has no sympathy for anybody that suffers because of the election. —Morning Citizen.

Will you make an exception in a case of the many who lost their hard earned cash on the Citizen's report that two democrats were elected in the 26th district, notably Stickney and Gordon for representatives?

THE SUN WAS NOT ALONE

Except in Furnishing the Latest News to the People Last Night.

Here is the heading of the Lawrence Sun this morning and it is as bold as anything the Sun published which shows that the statements of the Mail and Citizen that the Sun "faked" its despatches is pure falsehood. The Sun on election night refused to give the people the fake despatches that came over the wire from republican sources claiming doubtful states before the count was well commenced.

"Bryan has been elected."

That is the claim made at midnight by Chairman Jones.

Says no doubt Indiana's 14 votes are for Bryan

And that these with the votes of other states elect him—Asserts that one of Delaware's votes is for Bryan and possibly three—All the southern states for Bryan except Maryland and all the western states the democrats have been counting on."

The aldermen will hold a meeting this afternoon at 1.30 to canvass the election returns.

BRYAN NOT YET DEFEATED

The Doubtful States All Claimed by Republicans.

McKinley Returns Took a Big Drop Yesterday Afternoon—The Returns Will be Further Cut Down Today—What Senator Jones Said Last Evening—The Associated Press Returns Give McKinley Some Doubtful States—A Colored Councillor Elected in Boston Congressional Aspect.

Yesterday the Sun published the press despatches favoring the election of McKinley, but later returns proved them false and gave Bryan Nebraska, Texas and Kansas, having a total electoral of 33, with good chances of Kentucky, Washington, Wyoming and Indiana.

Yesterday all the doubtful states were put in the republican column. Today some of them remain there still without warrant as the returns are incomplete. It is an old republican dodge to claim everything and hold back returns where these are against them.

The claims of Senator Jones and of the democratic national committee caused wild demonstrations over the country.

FRAUD INVOLVED.

The original claims of republicans were that returns would be late and before the polls closed they claimed all the doubtful states. By that means they wanted to prepare the country for McKinley's election if the necessary votes were to be purchased. The offers of Hanna to buy Texas and the lavish use of money in Illinois and every other state where it was needed shows the tactics of the republican leaders. They were determined to buy the election at any price.

The national democratic committee will fight these corrupt influences to the bitter end.

WAS HE UNCERTAIN?

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Mark Hanna arrived here from Cleveland today but refused to be interviewed. He appeared to be in a very serious state of mind. People are asking if it means that there is anything the matter with Hanna.

LATEST FROM KENTUCKY.

The following despatch has been sent out by the Associated "McKinley" Press, not as any one's estimate but apparently as a fact.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 5.—With two counties and 12 precincts missing, Bryan has a plurality of 218 votes and it seems highly probable that the state board will have to decide the result of the missing counties.

MUST PROVE IT.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Chairman Jones said today that the republicans must prove every claim they make in the doubtful states. This means he will leave no stone unturned in case he suspects any of the returns to be fraudulent.

LATEST FROM JONES.

CHICAGO, NOV. 5.—Chairman James K. Jones of the Democratic National Committee, said today: "We have not lost. I have every reason to believe that Indiana is for Bryan. Iowa's latest returns are our way. Our people say Kentucky is all right; California and Oregon have gone for Bryan.

"I have no fear of West Virginia, and I do not concede McKinley's election."

LATEST AND BEST YET.

THIS IS NO FAKE DESPATCH.

238 Gorham street. Lowell, Nov. 5, 1895.

John Harrington, Proprietor and Publisher of the Lowell Daily Sun, Lowell, Mass.:

For and on behalf of Lawrence and Margaret Ford, as their attorney, I do hereby demand damages for the libel on them, and each of them, contained in your issue of Thursday, October 8, 1896, 1st page, 5th column.

The pretended acts and doings of the Lowell Board of Police in reference thereto, cannot be successfully plead in justification thereof.

A prompt settlement and satisfactory to me in pecuniary damages will alone, save suit.

JEROME F. MANNING,
Atty. for the said Lawrence and Margaret Ford.

Great Scott, Jerome, can't you wait until the election returns are all in? What do you want the money for at this time? How much do you want? Will it be in gold or silver? Who are you betting on? If this is a scoop for the Sun will see you later. Hooray for Bryan! God save Gorham street! Down with the County Ring!

Chairman Jones' Statement.

It was practically as follows:

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 5.—Last night Senator Jones when asked for a statement of his opinion of the result as it stands, dictated the following:

"I have counted from the beginning the states upon which we relied for Mr. Bryan's election, the southern states, with 156 votes, and the states west of the Missouri, with 61 votes, making a total of 217.

"I have hoped that we would carry Indiana, Michigan and Minnesota. I believe that we have carried all of the western states heretofore counted on, which leaves us, not counting Delaware, which I think we have carried, and which I have not heretofore calculated on, 209 votes.

"One vote we certainly have in Delaware, and probably three. But counting only one vote, which we have beyond doubt, it leaves necessary to a choice 14 votes. Either Michigan or Indiana would give us those 14 votes.

"The reports received by us from both these states are encouraging and lead us to believe that while both states are close we have the better chance to win, and we may probably carry both. There can be scarcely a doubt of our getting Indiana.

"Under these circumstances it seems to me that we are entirely justified in claiming the election of Mr. Bryan, which I do. And I believe that the temper of the people is such that they will not allow their choice to be defeated by tricks and fraud.

"The statements made again and again that I have given up the contest and admitted that Mr. Bryan is defeated indicate deliberate purpose to lead the people to believe that McKinley's election is accomplished and acquiesced in.

"I have not for a moment acquiesced in Mr. McKinley's election, and will not until there is a material change from existing conditions, as I believe Indiana and probably Michigan have voted for Bryan, and if either has he is elected.

Total Electoral Vote, 447.
Necessary for a choice, 224.

The returns show some interesting features, and in some respects have been a surprise to the leaders of both political parties. The New England states have, as expected, given heavy pluralities for McKinley, without exception. The Republican ticket was successful in Massachusetts greatly bebond what was claimed for it by the most enthusiastic prophet of Republican success.

New York and Pennsylvania vie with each other for the largest plurality, and the figures at hand do not indicate which one of them has surpassed the other. Each state has given the Republican candidate between 275,000 and 280,000. To these states Illinois is third for its plurality for the winning candidate. If the percentage of gain over the presidential election of 1892, that has so far been shown continues to the end, it will give a plurality of not far from 175,000.

In the gubernatorial race Altgeld has been badly defeated, but is not buried so deep, and is probably about 60,000 ahead of the Democratic national ticket. There has evidently been a large vote cast throughout the state for McKinley and Altgeld.

Ohio, which has all along been claimed by Chairman Jones as a state in which Bryan would push McKinley very close, has given the Republican candidate an overwhelming plurality.

In Michigan the election has resulted in a very heavily reduced vote for the Republican ticket. The free silver papers of Detroit concede the state to McKinley by 25,000. The last previous vote in the state was in 1895, when Moore, the Republican candidate for justice of the supreme court, had a plurality of 71,487 over McGrath, his Democratic rival.

West Virginia is confidently claimed by the Republicans, and the chairman of the Democratic state central committee concedes the state to McKinley.

Tennessee presents some of the interesting features of the campaign. Patterson, the Gold Democratic candidate for congress in the city of Memphis, is running neck and neck with his opponent, and the official count will be necessary to decide between them. The state at large is claimed by both parties, and because of the length of the ticket, the returns are coming in so slow that neither side is justified in claiming the electoral vote with confidence.

North Carolina is claimed by both parties, but, as in Tennessee, the returns are slow, and no definite conclusion is possible at present.

South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi and Alabama are all for Bryan by about the normal Democratic majority. The Virginia electors will, without question, be for Bryan, but they have been elected by a heavily reduced Democratic vote.

The Republicans have abandoned all hope of Texas, and the state is conceded to Bryan. The fusion between the Populists and Republicans in this state did not prove a success.

Nebraska has gone for Bryan, notwithstanding the Republican claims, but Kansas has as yet said practically nothing. The returns show Democratic gains in some districts, and these are offset by Republican gains in other parts of the state. Both parties claim the state, but

Complete Mass. Returns.

By Associated Press to the Sun.

Boston, Nov. 5.—The complete returns of Massachusetts according to the Associated Press give McKinley a plurality of 168,716. Wolcott's plurality for governor was 150,766. Biennial elections were defeated by 42,238 majority. The vote is Bryan, 104,280; McKinley, 272,996; Palmer, 11,805; Wolcott, 252,599; Williams, 101,766; Prince, 10,642.

Republicans Claim California.

The Associated Press says:

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—Giving Bryan the benefit of all reasonable doubt in districts not heard from McKinley carries California by not less than six thousand.

The reader should remember that the returns are not nearly all in.

From Rochester, N. Y.

On his return from Rochester this morning Mr. O'Hearn was met by a Sun reporter and in answer to a question as to the condition of things in that city he said that politically he found the greatest satisfaction prevailing now that the election is over.

"My trip was a flying one," said Mr. O'Hearn, "and I had little opportunity to meet and speak with strangers. Some of those I came in contact with, however, were men who had been outspoken in their advocacy of Mr. Bryan, but are now satisfied to have the question settled, agreeing that the stupendous plurality of Mr. McKinley leaves little doubt in their minds as to the justice of claim of the sound money men and their right to direct the affairs of this nation during the next four years. The greatest confidence prevails in northern New York. Arriving in Rochester yesterday morning at 9.45 continued Mr. O'Hearn, I found the greatest clothing market and the best garment makers in the world settling down to four years of prosperous business—yes, I went there in response to an invitation to consider an offer on several lots of suits and overcoats that were to be closed out to wind up the season's business on winter weights. You must know that in this respect Rochester differs from the cities of New York and Boston. Not alone do they make the finest goods there, but they are the first to show samples, and the first to end the season's selling. The sweat shops of the other great clothing centres are unknown there. The army of tailors to be seen leaving the big workshops at noon yesterday was a sight to witness. They are as busy as beavers on spring goods now. The scribe was inquisitive, and in answer to his question Mr. O'Hearn said: "You may serve notice on the public through the widely read columns of your paper that we will offer the most remarkable values ever seen in fine, well trimmed and well tailored clothing next Saturday, suits as well as overcoats. We will demonstrate to the public what double shrunk cloth thoroughly made and trimmed means, as compared with cloth and lining that are merely thrown together. The cost of making and trimming a garment thoroughly, is very much more than the cost of the cloth that goes into it."

Member of the Associated Press

We may expect to see the Mail claiming that the prosperity of our city has been injured by the action of the Sun in putting out bulletins favoring Mr. Bryan at a time when McKinley's friends had claimed everything. We believe in claiming what belongs to us.

The people of Lowell, and in fact the people of the entire country have learned that it is not safe to accept as genuine, the first reports of election returns, especially in a case like the present where most of the news agencies are controlled by the friends and upholders of one of the candidates. Four years ago the election of Harrison was claimed on the first returns, but the final returns showed that Harrison was defeated. Something of the same kind, though perhaps not on such a large scale occurred on this occasion, and undoubtedly for the same reason, because the news agencies and associations are controlled by republicans. Mr. Bryan may not be elected, but the returns are not all in, and until they are, it is impossible to state positively whether it is McKinley or Bryan.

THE LATE RETURNS.

The Sun yesterday afternoon and evening was the only paper in Lowell to give to the public the latest returns, which were all in Mr. Bryan's favor, and showed that the extravagant claims made for McKinley were quickly being cut down, while Chairman Jones of the democratic national committee issued statements that there were still strong hopes of Mr. Bryan's election.

The news caused a great sensation, and the democrats of Lowell especially were delighted to find that even if Bryan should not be elected, he would not be so badly beaten as the republican papers and the press despatches would make it appear.

Yesterday morning it appeared from the returns given out by the Associated Press, that Mr. Bryan would not receive more than 135 votes in the electoral college, but in the afternoon these claims were utterly overthrown by the news from the western states, particularly from Texas, Nebraska and Kansas, while Indiana, Kentucky, Washington and Wyoming are almost certain to go for Bryan. Yesterday morning the claims of the republicans and those of the Associated Press gave McKinley considerably over 300 votes.

It is not surprising that the friends of Mr. Bryan, the advocates of free silver, and the enemies of the gold standard should create a demonstration on hearing the news that the Bryan claim was to be increased by the addition of several states. The Sun hastened to give the public news both on the bulletin boards and in extra editions, and it is safe to say that no news of the kind was ever more greedily devoured.

The Mail this morning sneers in a very contemptible way at the Sun's claims, and the news issued in its extra editions which were Associated Press dispatches, and in every way as reliable, if not a great deal more so, than the earlier returns from the same source. The Mail says The Sun made these claims in order to sell papers, but in its columns side by side with this statement it publishes despatches of the wild demonstrations made in Chicago and other parts of the country on receipt of the same news which was issued by the Sun. Despite the statements of the Mail the dispatches published in last night's extra editions of the Sun are today confirmed, and there is yet a possibility of Mr. Bryan's election.

The Globe, which is a gold paper, today has this statement in its head lines: Figures vary: electoral vote in some doubt; St. Louis Republic only concedes 223 (to McKinley.) The Boston Herald, which has been one of the most determined gold bug organs, today says "Later Returns Reduce Doubtful States," viz., reduces McKinley's vote in the electoral college. But how could late returns reduce McKinley's strength if the figures claimed for him were not erroneous? The contest will be much closer than was expected, and it shows that practically half the people of the country want free silver.

LIFE ALL OVER AGAIN

STORY OF JAMES A. WATERBURY, THE CORDAGE KING.

He Has Started His Business Life Anew After Being a Millionaire—A Washerwoman's Destined Prediction Has Come True.

James M. Waterbury, former king of the Cordage trust and late hero of the most picturesque case of supplementary proceedings in the record of the New York courts, clubman, society leader and financial magnate two years ago, has begun life anew in an office in Brooklyn. He opened an office for the handling of the commercial affairs of a small ropewalk located in North Eighth street.

John Good worked for the Lawrences in their factory, corner of McKibben street and Bushwick avenue back in the old days preceding 1870. He was a poor boy. His mother was a washerwoman, who lived at the corner of Merrill and Siegel streets. James Good, however, invented a machine which was the most wonderful machine ever introduced into the ropemaking trade. It was called a "frame," and it did away with all the tedious process of "hackling" the hemp by hand. Good's mother gave her son such money as she could afford to perfect his invention, but in the end he was compelled to go to his employers, the Lawrences, and get them to take out his patents on a contract of 50 per cent of the royalties. Young Good, so he claimed, did not get 50 per cent. however. The Lawrences, who advanced the necessary money, took it all, he declared. Mr. Good went into the courts. It was a long fight. Eventually it was decided in his favor. But meantime his old mother died, and on her deathbed, according to the testimony of any number of the old residents of the ropemaking districts, she prophesied that the people who had taken advantage of her son's inventive ability would eventually become bankrupt and that her son would become a wealthy man.

The collapse of the Cordage trust carried down the Walls, the Lawrences, the Tuckers and the Carters as well as the Waterburys. But John Good had, before the trust came into existence, won in the supreme court his suit against the Lawrences and had established a factory at the corner of Washington street and Park avenue. It is an immense factory, and every rope factory in the world pays royalties on the machines manufactured there.

At the time, or shortly afterward, of the institution of the Cordage trust Good opened a little rope factory in Astoria. He hired Stevie Burns from Mr. Wall's old "walk"—where incidentally Berry Wall, "king of the dudes," used to work, in the office for $25 a week, as superintendent.

When the trust went to the wall, the factory in Astoria grew. Today it is one of the largest in the world. And besides it Stevie Burns, superintendent, makes periodical visits to John Good's big rope factories in England and Australia.

Meantime the old cordage kings have passed, by process of nature or decree of court, into the realms of things that have been.

And James M. Waterbury, who conceived and controlled the great Cordage trust three years ago, who astonished society with the magnificence of his entertainments, who made the whole financial world stand aghast for a time, has begun his business life anew.

TREED TWO BEARS.

Two Children Stick to Their Game and Bag Both.

Archie Paige, 13 years old, and his sister Nora, 14 years old, who live in the hills about two miles back of Westbrookville, a hamlet northeast of Port Jervis, N. Y., went out chestnutting in the woods on Saturday. Their dog started a mother bear and her cub. The dog chased the bears a long way, worried them and finally drove them up a tree.

The children had no weapons, but they followed the dog and enjoyed the sport. They went to the farmhouse of Mr. Nation, on whose lands the bears were treed, and asked him to come out with his gun, but Nation paid no attention to their request. Night came on, and Archie and Nora remained on guard with their dog, which kept up its barking. When morning dawned, the trio were still there, and the bear and cub still sat in the high branches of the tree. They got word to Westbrookville eventually, and John Brown, an old hunter, went and shot the bears.

The parents of the children, alarmed by their failure to return home at night, were about to start out in search of them in the morning when they appeared with the old hunter, who wanted assistance in bringing in the carcasses.—New York Sun.

Bureau Girls May Wear Short Skirts.

Pretty nearly a hundred of the girls who make paper money at the bureau of engraving and printing are bicyclists and wear the up to date costumes of the modern wheelwomen. Some envious critic complained to the chief of the bureau, Claude M. Johnson. The result was that Mr. Johnson issued an order to the effect that the girls must not come to the office in short skirts, although he had no objection to their riding the bicycle. All the employees affected formed in line and marched to Mr. Johnson's office to protest. One of the best looking of the girls was put forward as spokesman, and she argued at length on the inconvenience of long skirts and the freedom of short ones. Her arguments were convincing, for, after taking the matter under consideration for an hour or so, Mr. Johnson had the objectionable order rescinded. The girls are, of course, greatly pleased with their victory, and now even bloomers are talked of as a possibility.—New York World.

Circle City's Bathhouse.

Joe Smith has introduced a novelty in Circle City which should entitle him to a statue in bronze in commemoration of his benefactions. He has built a floating bathhouse, which is tied up alongside the river and in close proximity to the town. There are four bathtubs already in use, and he is making preparations to put in two more. The water is pumped from the river into a large boiler, where it is heated to any temperature desired. During the winter the house will sit on the ice, a hole being kept open all the time through which to draw the water. Charges for bathing are reasonable, being but $1 a bath.—Alaska News.

FOR HURLING DYNAMITE

MACEO'S WEAPON FIRST OF KIND USED IN WARFARE.

Built In New York, Taken to Cuba by the Three Friends In September and Promptly Placed In Action—A Veritable Monster of Destruction.

Antonio Maceo, the Cuban insurgent leader in the extreme west of Cuba, used a dynamite fieldpiece for the first time in warfare at the battles of Ceja del Negro and Guamo Mountain on Oct. 3 and 4 and reports himself highly pleased with its execution.

The Cuban dynamite gun is an American patent. General Maceo has one in Pinar del Rio, and General Calixto Garcia has another, in the Oriente. Both guns were made in New York and are known to American army officers as the Sims-Dudley dynamite rifle. They have been tested in this country and have proved satisfactory.

The gun consists of three parallel tubes, the middle one being considerably longer than the side tubes. The side tubes are connected at the upper and lower ends. In fact, the system resembles a trombone. The projectile is fired, or rather blown, from the middle tube, which is made of the best forged steel and is not more than half an inch thick. The projectile force is compressed air. At the extremity of the first side tube is a breech mechanism, where a cartridge of ordinary smokeless powder is inserted and then exploded. This explosion drives the air in this tube through the connection to the second tube and down the second into the middle tube or rifle and pushes out the projectile which is there.

The projectile moves slowly at first, and then with great rapidity. The rifle barrel is made long, so that the projectile will have a chance to gain a high velocity before emerging from the gun barrel. The projectile is loaded into the tube at the breech, and the large head of the arrow shaped projectile contains the explosive material. The main barrel is 16 feet long, and the side air tubes are four feet shorter. They are made of wrought iron. The projectile looks like a long arrow with a large, elongated head. It weighs 33 pounds. Of this 13 pounds are of high explosive compounds. It is equipped with time fuses and will burrow into the ground eight feet before exploding. To throw one of these shells 1 mile to 1¼ miles requires 15 ounces of high grade smokeless powder. This will generate a pressure of 350 pounds to the square inch in the force tubes.

There is not the usual cannon roar when these guns are discharged. They make a sharp, snapping or a crashing noise, as if a stick of timber were being broken. There is no flash or smoke, as the flame and smoke are consumed in the chamber of the tube where the cartridge is exploded. At night the guns cannot be located except by the peculiar noise they make. They spit no flame or sparks and show no light. Judging from reports received by the Cubans in New York the havoc wrought within the Spanish lines in the battles around the city of Pinar del Rio must have been terrific. The dynamite shells dug into the ground and tore open large gaps in the Spanish breastworks. They tore into the squares formed by the Spaniards and scattered the dead and dying in all directions. General Melquizo's columns became panic stricken and fled in wild disorder. It was the American dynamite gun which won the victory for Maceo. The Spaniards have acknowledged its effectiveness upon their troops.

The Diario de Ejercito, the Spanish army journal, said in a late number: "The Cubans had a new gun which gave our troops a great deal of trouble. It must have been very light, as they moved it about with great ease. We tried to capture it, but could not locate its position until it had completed its deadly work and was moved again. Its destructiveness was phenomenal. Fragments of the explosive hurled at us were sent to Havana for analysis by experts of the navy yard."

This gun, now used by Maceo, left Jacksonville Sept. 4 on the Three Friends and was landed in Pinar del Rio province, near Bahia Honda, Sept. 9. The expedition was led by Brigadier General Juan Rius Rivera, a Puerto Rican. The gun is under the immediate command of a well known civil engineer of New York, Colonel J. R. Villalon. His gunners are Charles Rockwell of New York, W. Gray Lee, John Drew, J. C. Saute, C. F. Weiss and a party of Russian artillerymen. The gun which is with General Garcia's force has made no record yet. It is expected to be heard from very soon.

Captain Howell P. Elwell is the designer of the pneumatic dynamite gun. It was tested at Glen Cove, N. Y., April 13, before the board of ordnance and fortifications of the United States army and representatives of the navy department and General Nelson A. Miles, all of whom considered the gun a success.

The new gun and carriage do not weigh much over 2,000 pounds. The gun has little or no recoil, because, as the force due to the discharge is completely absorbed within itself, the strain on the base can amount to nothing.—New York Journal.

A Heavyweight.

A man weighing 482 pounds and mounted on a safety bicycle created quite a sensation in West Norris street last Tuesday afternoon. When he dismounted at Twenty-third street to rest himself, a great crowd gathered around him and scarcely gave him room to breathe. He stood holding his bicycle for awhile, and when he saw that the crowd was increasing in size and that he was liable to be crushed he retreated to a nearby saloon and refreshed himself with a glass of cool lager. When he emerged from the saloon, several young men approached him and asked him his weight. He told them that he weighed 482 pounds and claimed to be the heaviest cycler on earth. He is a native of Cleveland and intends to stay in this city for some time.—Philadelphia Record.

"I came to talk to you about"—

"Ah, yes," the busy man answered without looking up. "The office boy told me you were coming. You want to talk about life insurance?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, go right over there in the corner and help yourself."

"I don't quite understand."

"I've got to save every minute of my time, and I'm afraid that if I don't hear what you have to say I'll be missing a good thing. There's a phonograph over there at your entire disposal. Two book agents, a lightning rod man and a man who wants to borrow money have talked into it this morning, but there are plenty of cylinders, and you can go ahead and fill it with eloquence till you get tired."—Washington Star.

—Chicago Times-Herald.

Every day engagements are entered into, and marriages are made between people who have no business to be married. Women enter into the most serious obligation of life without the proper physical equipment for it. When a woman marries, she tacitly makes the declaration that she means to become the mother of children. This declaration ought also to mean that she is physically able to perform what she undertakes. The bearing of a child is all too frequently an injustice to both mother and child. The woman who expects to bear intellectual and physically healthy children, should be herself in strong and vigorous health. The organs that make her a woman should be free from any taint of disease or weakness. If they are not the child will have a bare chance for health, and the mother may easily make herself a weak, nervous, semi-invalid for the rest of her life. Female weakness of any kind—whether hereditary or acquired—may be cured by the right sort of treatment. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is designed for the treatment and cure of just this one class of diseases and no other. It works in a perfectly rational way directly on the organs affected. It cleanses them of all impurities; allays any inflammation that may be present—and that generally is present in sickness; restores the organs to their natural, healthy, regular action—prepares them for the accomplishment of woman's greatest work; and if taken during gestation, the time of parturition will be comparatively safe and painless.

The "Favorite Prescription" is not a cure-all, and if the general system is run down, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery should be taken in connection with the "Favorite Prescription." These two medicines have the most wonderful influence on a woman's health. They will round out the hollows in her cheeks, bring redness to bloodless lips, and brightness to lack-lustre eyes. Continued from Page 1.

the few scattering returns that are in are of so indefinite a nature that any claims, no matter by whom made, are of an uncertain character.

Wisconsin is sure for the Republican column by an enormous plurality.

Minnesota, which was regarded as doubtful by both parties, has surprised everybody by the size of its Republican plurality, and McKinley will have 30,000 to 40,000 more votes in the state than Bryan. Governor Clough, whose election was considered doubtful, is certainly elected.

The latest information from the two Dakotas shows that North Dakota is very sure for McKinley, and the probability is South Dakota will be found in the same column, although the result is close.

The Republicans claim Wyoming and Washington, but the probabilities seem against them in both states.

Oregon has gone for McKinley, and Colorado, as was expected, has given Bryan a plurality, and Adams has, without doubt, been elected governor.

Idaho, Montana, Utah and Nevada have all gone for Bryan by heavy majorities.

California has, on the strength of the returns at hand, undoubtedly gone for McKinley, the city of San Francisco giving him a plurality of 8307, and one-half of the outside precincts show a Democratic gain of 41 votes, showing that the Democratic reliance upon the heavy support of the rural districts were not entirely unwarranted. Delaware, where the Republican party has been rent in twain because of the Addicks-Higgins fight, has kept in the Republican column. The vote for the Republican electors in this state has been unusually large, showing that the factional disputes did not extend, in any great measure, to the national ticket.

The vote in Maryland has shown an interesting reversal from that of the last presidential election. Cleveland carried the state by a plurality of 1,130, and this year McKinley has a plurality of slightly over 21,000 in the city of Baltimore alone.

Gold Democrats Helped McKinley.

Wheeling, Nov. 5.—Incomplete returns continue to show Republican gains, and there is no reason to change Tuesday night's figures of 15,000 plurality. All four Republican candidates for congress are undoubtedly elected by increased majorities. Atkinson (Rep.), for governor, and the entire Republican state ticket is elected, and both branches of the legislature are Republican. The Gold Democrats generally voted the Republican ticket.

A COLORED COUNCILLOR.

One of the Features of the Election In the Bay State.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Complete returns from this state, though unofficial, and subject to revision, give the following votes for president and governor:

Bryan, 102,855; McKinley, 267,787; Palmer, 11,510; McKinley's plurality, 165,132. In 1892 the total vote was: Cleveland, 176,813; Harrison, 202,814; Harrison's plurality, 26,001.

The complete vote for governor gives: Prince, 13,674; Williams, 101,099; Wolcott, 256,282; Wolcott's plurality, 155,183. In 1895 the total vote was: Greenhalge, 186,280; Williams, 121,599; Greenhalge's plurality, 64,681.

But two towns in the entire state were carried by Williams—Blackstone and Alford—the former by 15 plurality and the latter by a plurality of 1, while the presidential vote in Alford was a tie.

The returns on biennial amendments are not yet complete, but both amendments are defeated by 25,000 to 30,000 majority.

Of the 13 congressmen elected, all but one—Fitzgerald, in the Ninth district—are Republicans, the delegatin remaining politically the same as at present.

The executive council will consist of eight Republicans, the single Democratic member of last year's council—John H. Sullivan—being defeated for a re-election by Isaac B. Allen, a colored Republican, born a slave in Hampton, Va., by about 275 plurality. It is understood that Mr. Sullivan will ask for a recount.

Counties.	1896 R.	1896 D.	1895. R.	1895. D.

The house of 1897 will be made up of 182 Republicans and 58 Democrats. The representatives by counties are as follows:

Barnstable	4	0
Berkshire	5	4
Bristol	16	2
Dukes	1	0
Essex	31	3
Franklin	5	0
Hampden	7	6

Totals	182	58

In the Pine Tree State.

Portland, Me., Nov. 5.—Late returns from the Maine election give McKinley a plurality just a trifle short of that given the Republicans at the September election, or about 48,000. This statement is based on returns received from 284 towns, which give McKinley 66,152; Bryan, 26,057; Palmer, 1253; Levering, 915; Bryan and Watson, 1301. The same towns in September gave a Republican plurality of 40,176. The towns yet to be heard from cannot change these figures much.

Revised Figures From Granite State.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 5.—Returns from all but 13 towns and wards in New Hampshire give McKinley 54,733; Bryan, 20,233; Palmer, 3243. Bryan and Watson, 351; Levering, 521; Bentley, 54; Matchett, 62. McKinley's plurality, 34,500. The missing towns and wards gave Cleveland 206 plurality in 1892. For governor, Ramsdell (Rep.) has 46,648; Kent (Dem.), 26,497; Ramsdell's plurality, 19,841. For member of congress, First district, Sulloway (Rep. has 10,442 plurality; Second district, Clarke (Rep.) has 12,255 plurality. The Republicans have elected 200 members of the house of representatives, the Democrats 76, and two precincts voted not to send.

Not Looking Up Figures.

St. Albans, Vt., Nov. 5.—The Vermonters do not yet know just the size of the vote in their state, or the plurality given to Major McKinley, and it looks as if nobody cared to canvass the vote. Among the elements of certainty in the vote is the diminutiveness of the Gold Democratic, Populistic and Prohibitory polling strength. McKinley's plurality will be about 35,000, as already conservatively estimated. The Republican state committee is paying little attention to collecting the returns.

Rhody's Contribution.

Providence, Nov. 5.—The complete returns of the state give Bryan, 13,749; McKinley, 37,499; Levering, 1165; Palmer, 203, and Matchett, 65.

McKinley and Democratic Governor.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 5.—McKinley's estimated plurality in Delaware is 2600. Tunnell (Dem.), for governor, has 2800 plurality, and Handy (Dem.), for congress, about the same. The legislature is in doubt. Addicks carried Kent county, but both parties claim the Sussex legislative ticket. If Addicks has Sussex, he will control the legislature, and be elected to the United States senate. If he loses it, the Democrats will have the house. The Democrats carried the legislative ticket in Newcastle county. McKinley carried all three counties. The constitutional convention will be Republican by a small majority.

Pingree's Great Run.

Detroit, Nov. 5.—The remarkable run of Mayor Pingree, governor-elect of Michigan, is perhaps the most interesting feature of the election results in this state. In spite of what had been alleged to be all kinds of opposition, both within and without his party, the Detroit mayor's plurality will exceed all of the McKinley electors by 15,000 to 20,000 votes. The Detriot Tribune (free silver) announces that practically official returns give Pingree a plurality of 65,930. McKinley, on the same count, received 52,050. In the missing counties referred to the vote is showing quite remarkable Republican gains.

Democrats Concede North Dakota.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 5.—McKinley has carried this state by at least 5000 and entire Republican state ticket is elected by about the same majority. This is one of the surprises of the election, as the indications were that the state ticket would run 2500 behind McKinley. Chairman Kleinogel of the Democratic state committee concedes the state to McKinley by 5000, and the election of the entire Republican state ticket.

Oregon For McKinley.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5.—Nearly complete returns from all but six small counties in Oregon give McKinley 34,854; Bryan, 31,509; McKinley's majority, 3242. Complete returns will not materially change results.

The Lone Star Vote.

Dallas, Nov. 5.—About half the counties in the state have been heard from officially, and, approximately, Bryan and Sewall's plurality is placed at 100,000. Culberson and the state ticket will beat Kerby and Populist state ticket by 75,000. Chairman Black claims that 12 out of 13 congressional districts have gone Democratic, the Tenth being the only doubtful one.

In Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 5.—The Republican state committee has abandoned all claims to state, except auditor and treasurer, which Judge Post says the Republicans have elected. He concedes the election of Holcomb (fusion), for governor, by 8000, but says that Holcomb's vote in the state will exceed Bryan's by 3000 to 4000. He claims only the congressmen from the First and Second districts.

Plurality Reduced.

Richmond, Nov. 5.—It is impossible to estimate accurately the Democratic majority in Virginia. Returns are slow, but the Democrats have not more than 25,000 plurality, and by the last advices, all the congressional districts, save the Ninth and Tenth, which are Republican. These districts are in the Shenandoah valley and southwestern part of the state.

The North Carolina Contest.

Raleigh, Nov. 5.—Bryan has carried this state by not less than 10,000. His vote is far in excess of that of Watson for governor, who is defeated by Russell (Rep.). The Democrats and Populists have voted solidly for the fusion electors. The legislature is anti-Democratic in both houses.

Fusion Wins In Kansas.

Topeka, Nov. 5.—The fusionists seem to have five congressmen, the Republicans two, and one in doubt. The legislature, on joint ballot, appears to be two-thirds fusion. Chairman Breidenthal (Pop.) claims 108 of the 165 members of the senate and house.

The Illinois Landslide.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The complete unofficial returns give McKinley a plurality in Cook county of 67,536; outside of Cook county, 71,180, making his total plurality in the state 138,718. Tanner's plurality over Altgeld is estimated at 112,845.

Phenomenal Figures.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—Complete returns from all but a few of the 67 counties in the state give McKinley a plurality of 295,950. It is not believed that the official count will show much variation from these figures.

Bryan Leads.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 5.—Precincts thus far heard from give McKinley 17,704; Bryan, 23,461. This is about one-half the vote of the state. Returns are coming in slowly.

Nevada's Light Vote.

Carson City, Nev., Nov. 5.—Complete returns from 55 precincts give McKinley 917; Bryan and Sewall, 3478; Bryan and Watson, 195.

The Next Congress.

Washington, Nov. 5.—It is impossible at this time to make an estimate of the Fifty-fifth congress that could run the gauntlet of "later returns." But enough is known to justify the statement that the gold standard will control both senate and house by an overwhelming majority. This does not mean that the senate will have a Republican gold majority, but that Gold Republicans and Gold Democrats will control on financial questions.

Solid Against Biennials

Boston, Nov. 5.—The biennial amendment to the constitution was defeated by about 20,000 majority. The vote against the proposition was very general, only three of the congressional districts having passed in favor of it. In some of the other districts the vote was as high as four to one against the amendment.

ELECTION NOETS.

Editor of The Sun:

Sir,—The great battle is over, and although defeated, we are not disgraced, but on the contrary, do and should feel proud for the honor and privilege of standing up, though our vote be counted on the side of that able, brave and honest tribune of the masses and standard bearer of democracy, William Jennings Bryan. He has made a great and noble fight for the rights of man and the cause of progress, and whatever the future should bring forth, history will award him the prize he has so gloriously earned of being placed on the pages of history as a great and wonderful man; and all who have in any way contributed towards his election, will look back with pride in after years to the part they played in the drama of life in the battle of the ballots the present year. If he has not won the fight, he has without doubt dealt a blow to the spirit of privilege, plutocracy, monopoly and the "commonism of pelf" that will leave a mark that can never be erased.

H. HAMER.

The Mail has Knox elected in the sixth district, and the Citizen concedes the election of two democratic representatives, who we regret to say were defeated.

The Citizen deponeth thus:

The Republicans have elected their senators, Putnam and Brigham; they have given them fat pluralities and made them feel very happy and contented. The Democrats secure two representatives in the 27th district—Donohoe with 1494 votes, and Coughlin who has 1339. Major Rowell, contrary to Democratic rumor, is third on the list of Republican representatives. His associates are Hayes, Lang, Ramsey, Dobbins and Pattee. It is a very good delegation of conservative men.

From the Citizen: Mr. Knox goes out of Lowell with a handsome plurality. Two years ago he pulled through with but a few votes to spare this year he had 2161 to his credit. His opponent, Mr. Harrington, had the largest vote of any democratic candidate, and that was a tribute to his character which was very consoling in the midst of such disaster. Mr. Knox will continue to serve us with an experienced ability.

The republicans are already preparing to celebrate a victory which has not yet been won. They are talking of celebrating next Saturday night and possibly Col. Chadwick may call out his regiment of paraders and the plan is to have a meeting in Huntington hall.

On Robbins hill in Chelmsford last night, the republicans celebrated with a big bonfire and several houses in the vicinity were decorated and illuminated.

Last Night's Episodes.

The non-partisan Citizen, which conservatively estimated the election of a couple of democratic representatives, causing the wrongful change of much money, yesterday, was hard hit last night, when The Sun's Bryan dispatches began to come in to the deligt of all good democrats.

The Citizen couldn't deny the despatches and being beside itself for its inability to say something to please the crowd, put out the following on its bulletin board:

"The Daily Sun has refused a bet at odds, that its dispatch is untrue."

This the Citizen people thought would secure a big bet, and having put it out, they immediately closed up shop and went home before The Sun might have an opportunity to deny the statement, which of course was a lie, pure and simple.

When The Sun reporter telephoned to the Citizen after the bulletin had been out some time, he was informed that the gentleman in the office knew nothing about the despatch or the bulletin, and that the business office was closed and that, moreover, anyone who knew anything about it had gone home.

The Sun then put out a bulletin in reply to that of its enemies and untruthful neighbors and kept open house for several hours afterward.

The bulletin which didn't states which particular despatch was untrue or who offered the money, or how much odds were offered, was attributed to the republican city committee.

A gentleman at the republican headquarters denied all knowledge of the affair and then the responsibility was laid upon the shoulders of a well meaning but young reporter of the Citizen, who in his enthusiasm for the democratic cause, Tuesday evening, elected two democratic representatives in the 27th district.

The Sun didn't begrudge the young reporter the glory of that scoop and he shouldn't become sore at The Sun's genuine scoop last night. Like the Mail man he "couldn't do all the work."

Y. M. C. I. PARTY.

A Very Pleasant Assembly in Runels' Hall.

About 125 couples attended the complimentary party given by the Y. M. C. I. in Runels' hall last evening.

A dance order of 25 numbers was enjoyed to the music of Bamber's orchestra, the dancing continuing till midnight, when the party came to an end, and the young people departed, after having enjoyed one of the best social events of the season. During the evening lemonade was served by Misses Lilla Rountree and Grace Garvey, the little ones presiding over the table in a manner which would have done credit to older ladies.

The general manager of the affair was Mr. Alexander E. Rountree, and he was well assisted by Mr. Thomas McCrann, assistant general manager. Mr. Michael J. Finley had charge of the dancing, and he had Mr. John Brophy as assistant. The floor director had about twenty aids, and the general manager a reception committee of twenty-five.

Marriage Intention.

The only intention recorded at the city clerk's office today was Ubald Allard, 14, to Elmire Chantel 23.

SEWER COMMITTEE

Heard Half a Hundred Petitioners and Remonstrants.

Several petitions were heard by the sewer committee last night and about 50 petitioners and remonstrants were permitted to present their views.

One of the principal petitions was that of the Middlesex North Agricultural society asking that the sewer assessment from the Gorham street sewer be abated. Sidney Drewett, the treasurer, appeared for the society. "The assessment is $1019," he said, "Now the society is $9300 in debt already and the laying of a sewer in the street is no benefit to us.

Alderman Dow reminded Mr. Drewett that the sewer in the street enhanced the value of the land. He thought that a society with $70,000 worth of property can afford to pay the assessment.

Col. Bennett asked for relief for the Westford street sewer. It is too small to carry off the sewerage and at times the resulting conditions are very annoying.

That sewers be laid in Campau and Corbett streets was asked and no remonstrants appeared. But the streets have not yet been accepted.

No one was present to speak for or against the 5th avenue and Avon street sewer and on the Grace and Burgess streets' petition for a sewer, several spoke.

Col. Bennett and others asked for abatement on the D street sewer. The colonel said his tax was $2.50 on 20,000 feet of land and others were said to be excessive.

Better drainage in Chelmsford street and the extension of the Oakland street sewer were asked.

JOE DONOHOE

Says That a Democrat Can Win in the 27th District.

The greatest surprise offered local democrats and a few republicans, too, in Tuesday's election, was the defeat of Donohoe and Coughlin in the 27th district.

Democrats hoped for both, and confidently expected Donohoe.

Yesterday some one mentioned to "Joe" that as he was not elected, no democrat in the district can win. "Yes, they can," he replied; "that was an unusual vote; the reserve came out strong. Next year it will not be so heavy on the republican side and a good democrat will win. I am glad Coughlin ran well. I worked hard for election and feel that the democracy of the district will not blame me for defeat. I canvassed the district as close as I could, and left nothing undone to lead the party to victory. All things considered, I am gratified with my vote."

THEATRICAL NEWS.

Music Hall.

John W. Isham's "Octoroons," composed of high-class comedians, clever dancers and sweet singers will present a program replete with new ideas so interesting and amusing that all who visit Music hall this and the succeeding evenings will vote the evening as one of the merriest and most pleasing they have enjoyed or will enjoy this season in the amusement line.

For the first half of next week "My Uncle from New York" is the bill offered. It is said to be one of the best farcical comedies of a high and entertaining order before the public. It is clean and wholesome in action and dialogue, and presents a plot that is wholly natural and consequently rapturously funny. The many incidents growing out of the unexpected arrival of "My Uncle" are the most laughable ever seen. Harry Montague as the uncle is en rapport with the part and gives it all those lights and shades which only the experienced actor can. Miss Duncan is vivacious and attractive and adds that dash that is just necessary to make the comedy sparkling.

Savoy Theatre.

Never has success come quicker to a theatrical scheme than it has come to the Savoy Theatre, which in character has completely changed in every respect. From the class of patrons when the theatre was a vaudeville house the clientele now is composed of the very first people of the city. There is a reason for all this, as the company is vastly superior to any that Lowell has had in years, and no finer stage settings can be found. This management has done everything to gain the confidence of the people and surely it has succeed in doing it. The matinee last Saturday was the largest in the history of the house and 350 photographs were given away to ladies present. These matinees are very popular. Next Saturday a fine cabinet with autograph of Miss Stahl will be given to every lady sitting down stairs.

WATER BOARD

Finds Waste Water in Many Places.

The water board has placed meters in houses where it was suspected there was useless waste of water and in some cases it was found that in three months water to the value of $50 to $100 was being used, where formely a charge of only $30 a year was being made. At last night's meeting of the water board, several of those who were caught appeared and asked for rebates. The matter was taken under consideration.

AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

A Novel Entertainment was Held Last Evening.

"Living Advertisements" was the novel entertainment given in the chapel of St. John's church last night under the auspices of the Improvement society.

The idea of the affair originated with Herbet L. Bishop and was carried out very successfully under his direction, with the assistance of Benjamin Clements, Heaton Burns, Miss Marcia C. Cogshall and Miss Harlet Green.

There was stage at one end of the chapel, and the curtain arrangement was similar to that in living pictures, even to the excellent light effects in the rear.

Highland Club Bowling.

The new bowling league held its second meeting at the Highland club last evening. The league includes the Vesper, Highland Home, Yorick, "The Club" and the Bankers and committees appointed at the last meeting a week ago submitted their reports. The schedule will be ready for publication in a day or two and the first game of the new association will be rolled within a week. Les Miserables' private alleys will be used by the clubs which have not alleys of their own.

The schedule for the fall tournament of the Highland club has been arranged and the guests will begin next week.

Dr. Langan Dead.

Dr. John T. Langan, a former Lowell man, died this morning at Oswego, N. Y. He leaves three sisters and a brother here. He was well known in this city and was a member of the old X. Q. Z. club. He removed from Lowell about ten years ago.

Pure Jealousy.

Effigene O'Flarity (the tall lady to the right)—Say, girls, it's a ill wind wot don't blow nobody no good. Dere goes Liz Murphy. Her little sister Maggie was buried yesterday, and Liz swiped the white crape an ribbon off de doornob an sneaked some o' the flowers, an today she's wearin 'em an ketchin all de beaus she wants an t'rowin on lugs because she had a det in de fambly. But I don't care. My Aunt Biddy is in der hospital wit' consumpshun, an when she dies just see if I don't knock Liz Murphy silly! — New York Sunday World.

POLICE COURT.

Hadley, J.

Seven drunks.

William Kelly, who is charged with drunkenness and assault upon his wife was held in $500 until Nov. 14. James Rice, sentenced to jail for four months on a charge of drunkenness, appealed.

Henry Fahey was fined $3 for obstructing the street.

B. D. O'Connell, Esq.

B. D. O'Connell, Esq., has returned from Pennsylvania just as full of fight and hope as when he went. In the police court this morning Mr. O'Connell said to a group: "Gentlemen, mark my words, McKinley has not had a landslide. I personally am of the opinion that Mr. Bryan will be elected. I believe moreover that he will carry Michigan."

Greetings for Bryan.

The following telegram was sent William J. Bryan yesterday afternoon by the Bryan-Sewall-Williams club of Massachusetts:

Over 100,000 freemen of Massachusetts will stand with you for the overthrow of monopoly and the restoration of the government to the hands of the people. Foreign financial control must cease, and the money of the constitution must be restored. Your unexampled, courageous leadership has won the admiration and love of the men of Bunker Hill and Lexington. To you and to your noble wife we send our heartfelt greeting and good cheer. The forces are now reorganizing for the victory that is sure to come.

TWENTY ROUND DRAW.

Frank Zimpher and Luke Burke Meet Before a Buffalo Club.

By Associated Press to the Sun.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Frank Zimpher of Buffalo and Luke Burke of Lowell, Mass., fought a 20-round draw before the W. J. Connors A. C. here tonight. The boys weighed in at 115 pounds, and were in the pink of condition. They gave a very fine exhibition of boxing.

The other event of the evening was between Con. Doyle of Chicago and Johnny Laughlin of Buffalo. It was a slugging match from start to finish. At the end of the 10th round the referee called it a draw.

A ROYAL MARRIAGE.

The Duke of Orleans Weds the Arch-Duchess Dorothea.

By Associated Press to the Sun.

At 11 o'clock this morning, in the chapel of the Hofburg, Louis Phillippe Robert, Duke of Orleans, pretender to the throne of France, was married to the Arch-Duchess Dorothea, who yesterday renounced all her rights of succession to the throne of Austria.

CURE CONSTIPATION.

A BIG BANQUET

At St. Jean Baptist Church Last Evening.

The firms of A. G. Pollard & Co., F. G. Mitchell & Co., the O'Donnell & Gilbride company, J. L. Chalifoux and Parthenais Bros., entertained about 300 of their employes with a complimentary concert and banquet in the auditorium of the magnificent new St. Jean Baptiste church last night.

The centre of the big floor space was set with eight long rows of tables which were laden with choice fruits and viands, and set with bouquets of beautiful flowers.

The Olympian orchestra discoursed entivening music from the gallery and added much to the cheerfulness of the occasion.

Noe Lussier had general charge and he was assisted by 25 gentlemen waiters in full dress.

Tonight a concert and banquet complimentary to the ushers, waitresses and members of the choir who assisted at the banquet following the recent unveiling of the Fr. Garin monument will be tendered under the personal supervision of Mrs. C. H. Boisvert.

There will be twenty-five young ladies dressed in white to wait upon the tables.

This will be the last social affair of any nature that will be held in the church until after the dedication.

OVERSEERS OF THE POOR.

Held a Meeting and Approved All Bills.

The overseers of the poor held a meeting last evening and approved bills. It was voted that hereafter all supplies for the pauper department aggregating a cost of $25 or more be purchased only by vote of the full board.

It was also voted to request the city treasurer to pay no more bills without the sanction of the board.

The overseers discussed for a long time what to do with the three blind men who formerly sawed wood at the city wood yard. Several motions were considered but no action resulted.

The bill for work at the city farm buildings did not come before the board of overseers of the poor for approval. It was stated that the bill was approved by the lands and buildings committee in the afternoon, and this caused much unfavorable comment, inasmuch as several of the overseers had expressed themselves as opposed to approving the bill. The contract for furnishing beef was awarded to Michael Corbett, the lowest bidder.

The people of the Page Street church gave a reception to their new pastor, Rev. A. E. Wilson and his wife last night.

MATRIMONIAL.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Chase, 205 Fairmount street, Wednesday afternoon, their daughter, Miss Emma Louise Chase, and Mr. Augustus Marvin Ricker, were married by Rev. George F. Kenngott. The ceremony was of a quiet character, only the immediate relatives being present. On their return from a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Ricker will reside at 205 Fairmount street, and will be "at home" after November 10th.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Hardy, J.

The liquor case against Hugh Gildee which has been pending since last term was placed on file on payment of costs.

The case of George Robbins and Roderick Chisholm charged with rape on a young woman named Pothier was given to the jury.

George M. Bruce was sentenced to 3 years in the house of correction for breaking and entering the barn of J. V. Fletcher in Westford and attempting to commit an assault with a dangerous weapon. He had a criminal record in New Hampshire.

In the afternoon the jury in the alleged rape case brought in a verdict of guilty of simple assault against the two defendants. They were sent to the reformatory.

The case of Wm. Kane, an old man, charged with assault with intent to murder on Chief Scott of Dracut, was tried in the afternoon.

Joseph Menard pleaded guilty to the charge of rape, and he was sentenced to 6 months in the house of correction. He has already served 7 months while waiting.

Lizzie Clark pleaded guilty to the charge of being a common drunkard, and she was sentenced to 2 months in jail. She has already served 4 months.

There were two charges against John J. Ducey and on one of them he was sentenced to a year at the state farm. The other was placed on file.

Geo. H. Kane, a bright looking 21 year old young man, pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness and was sentenced to 7 months at the state farm.

No Comparison.

No printing establishment in this city compares with The Sun Job Print in its mechanical equipment and the excellence of its work. Did you ever try it?
